With a visit from our Oldham friends this afternoon we draw the curtains on our first season of Football since the shining days before the war.

When it was courageously decided to start up at the beginning of the Season, the Directors had little else than pluck to back up their determination to put Salford back on the Rugby league Map.

Players were in the Army and spread about all over the place. There was no opportunity of getting them together at any time. Indeed for many months it was a case of sitting in the dressing room with fingers crossed hoping and praying that someone would turn up fit or not to play.

Players like Sammy Miller and Billy Watkins often travelled all night and played the next day to help the old club out. We don't forget it. There were matches away when we found that players who were expected to travel from their depots had not arrived, and reserves had to be found on the spot. Despite all this we have survived and with a win to-day will be bracketed with Barrow in the fifth position in the table. For this happy state of affairs we owe much to our players who in darker days never lost their grim determination to make the best of things.

Most of all we owe a debt to the Supporters—this means you—who have kept us going financially. Now it is our turn to do what we can for you. Our future efforts will be directed towards improving the team and ground. In the close season we are tackling the problem of terracing the popular side and providing the necessary amenities a ground needs. The Supporters club are giving us all possible support and to-day will hold a collection for funds to carry out the required improvements.
