PROGRAMME NOTES

Wednesday's game "provided" us with 2 points and I must congratulate "Hunslet" or should I say "Bison Sport" on turning out and playing as amateurs, which also enabled Hunslet to carry out their fixtures. They stuck to their task well and showed that they are probably a very good amateur side indeed.

Out-half Barron did well to get into the man of the match awards in third place. Quite a feat when playing against professionals and once again—well played, Bison, or, as they would say—"up the Bulls".

Welcome to Salford

In modern times Salford have become synonymous with "hefty" transfer fees and big captures from Rugby Union circles, and are often amiably referred to throughout the Rugby League as "the team Brian built" and if the press reports are to be believed, the team that takes the field this afternoon will have cost somewhere around £80,000—of course, a large support has been built up and matches v. Oldham at Watersheddings usually attract a large crowd.

I would not be doing the correct thing if I went through the team in the usual manner—what does one say about a team of "stars"?

Two tourists, Chris Hesketh and Johnny Ward; three former Oldham players, Stuart Whitehead, Charlie Bott and Peter Smethurst; and three men in Watkins, Dixon and Charlton, who were reported to have cost over £10,000 each; and with Maurice Richards, Mike Coulman and Bob Prosser to fill other positions, you have a galaxy which would take too long to talk about.

Cliff Evans has recently been appointed to coach and one hopes that he will be able to blend all these wonderful individuals into the team that such enterprise deserves.

The Lancashire Cup provided an epic struggle two years ago at The Willows and one hopes that this afternoon's game will again reach the same standard. May the best team win and the winners will play at home to the winners of Wigan and Barrow.

PROFILE '70

Ray Hatton, the Club's new Vice-Chairman, lives at 'Nonwood', Greenacres, with his wife, Jeanette, and three children, Steven 14, Judith 12, and Wayne 6.

A director of several companies with interests in central heating, plumbing and waste paper, Ray also has a lot of experience of public relations.

He likes golf, being a member of the Committee at Crompton & Royton Golf Club, and he has also taken a great interest in the new Cherry & Whites Pool, which has recently started, and, along with Pools Organiser Alan Taylor, he brought into being the new idea for which he also has overall responsibility. Other than Rugby, I would think Ray's ambition is to do a hole in one.

SPONSORED GOAL KICKING COMPETITION FOR RUGBY LEAGUE

A new competition with a big kick in it and prize money to match will be the highlight of the Player's No. 6 promotions for the fourth successive season in the Rugby League, it is announced today (Monday July 27th).

The next competition, which has been welcomed by the Rugby League Council, will be based on a team's goal kicking ability. It will be run in addition to the now fully established Player's No. 6 Player of the Match Awards, but replaces the Spectators' Champion Award Scheme which is to be discontinued.

The goal kicking competition will take place once at each club throughout the season. The idea will be for the two teams involved to elect a goal kicker who, during the half time interval, will each have six attempts to kick goals in the established Rugby League manner. To ensure complete fairness goal kickers will have three attempts from each end of the ground, the positions of the ball being in all cases on the 25 yard line. One will be taken from the right touch line, one from the centre and one from the left touch line, with a repeat at the other end of the ground. For each successful kick the team will be awarded £6. If he kicks all six, the prize money will be doubled. This means that a successful kicker could win £72 for his team to share.

Each team will have the right to be involved in the new competition twice during the season, once at home and once away. A list of the actual matches chosen will be issued shortly. At each game Player's No. 6 personality girls will assist in the running of the competition and the presentation of the prize money.

The Player of the Match Competition will be run exactly as last season. An independent judge will attend each game and name the Player of the Match who will receive £6 at the end of the game. He will also receive three points while the player nominated second best will receive two points and the third best, one point. At the end of the season the top six players with the most points will share £600 prize money to be distributed as follows:

Player's No. 6 Player of the Year : £250 and Trophy

Runner-up : £150

Third : £100

Fourth : £50

Fifth : £30

Sixth : £20
