FLOPS? KIWIS GET LAST LAUGH

AN ANGRY New Zealand tour party will look anxiously at the Test gate at Castleford on October 16. A repeat of the Salford First Test crowd flop would be disastrous for their finances.

Says Co Tour Manager Jack Williams, 'It's a bitter disappointment to find only 3,764 people bothered to pay to get in.'

Salford chairman, Mr. Brian Snape, angrily told us: 'You couldn't blame the Salford public. The New Zealanders had been written off by all the press, radio and TV. They weren't given a chance against Great Britain, especially after their disappointing early tour results. In this country we seem to do everything in black and white... and the game suffers. In the event, the Kiwis put up a tremendous performance... and won.'

Commented Mr. Williams about that: 'So what happened? All the critics hit out at a miserable British performance, and forgot to take into account a team plays only as well as it is allowed. We got no credit at all.'

disappointed. We want something better.'

That's why, with a Test win under their belt, the New Zealanders will be looking anxiously at the gate receipts at Castleford. And tonight.

Sunday seats warning

TICKETS for Sunday's New Zealand match (3 p.m.) are selling so well that people needing seats are advised to buy them in advance.

Season ticket holders who do not claim their seats by tonight (Friday) CANNOT BE GUARANTEED THEIR OWN PLACES.

Seats are available to the general public at 35p, 40p and 45p. The office is open for tonight's match against Oldham (7.30), between 9 a.m. and noon tomorrow (Saturday) and from 9 a.m. until kick-off on Sunday.

Surprises

The Kiwis face the fact that, one up with two to go, they could still lose the series.

'But,' they say, 'after we had beaten Australia, we surely deserved a better reception than we received from all the media. We are surprised and somewhat

SUSPENSIONS

EDDIE CUNNINGHAM was suspended for three games by the Rugby League last week and missed both the Oldham and New Zealand matches. Colin Clarke, suspended for two games missed the Oldham visit, but is available against the New Zealanders.

OPINION

WHEN A SHIP gets blown off course, everybody tends to think they can do better than the officers on the bridge.

It's a fair analogy with what is happening in Wigan today. Numbers of our supporters in this Rugby League minded town are alarmed by our four defeats by the first Saturday in October... the worst start in years.

So are we as a club. No stone is being left unturned to strengthen the staff, but in fairness to the players it must be stressed just how chaotic the injury list has been. ONE NIGHT LAST WEEK ONLY SIX WERE FIT ENOUGH TO TURN UP FOR TRAINING, AND TWO OF THOSE WERE SUSPENDED PLAYERS.

We do agree that new names are needed at Central Park. We are looking forward to announcing a signing or two in the very near future.

But do remember that no clubs can carry the sort of injury list we have done this wretchedly upsetting season without some faltering. Turn-outs of almost 'A' team proportions beat Hull KR here last time out, and then held Huddersfield to a very close margin last Saturday.

It indicates that every cloud has a silver lining somewhere. In this difficult period we would ask our supporters to remember that.

Yes, we're getting that new stand!

CENTRAL PARK IS TO GET A NEW LUXURY MAIN STAND.

That was made certain when the Rugby League Finance and General Purposes Committee decided last Wednesday to grant Wigan FC a sizeable loan for the purpose. The balance of the money will be raised locally.

Explains Wigan secretary, Mr. G. Sutcliffe: 'The Board know there will be critics of a stand venture at a time when we need new players.

It's vital

'But the Board have to be a little less short-sighted than most.'

In the long term Wigan will only attract people into the ground by top class facilities.

'Our ground must be the best, and so must the team.'

Chairman Mr. N. Bibby says: 'No stone is being left unturned to make Wigan tops on and off the field. The next generation will give us no thanks if we neglect our stadium. We must keep in step with the age in which we live—or live to regret it.'

BUILDING OF THE NEW STAND WILL NOT BEGIN FOR SEVERAL MONTHS.

TEST TICKETS

Seat tickets for the Second Test against New Zealand at Castleford on October 16 (kick off 3.15 p.m.) are available from The Secretary, Castleford F.C., Wheldon Road, Castleford. Prices £1.50 and £1.

Tickets for the same price are available for the Third Test at Headingley on November 6 from General Manager, Leeds R.L.F.C., Headingley, Leeds 7.

EVERY ONE of the Kiwis is an amateur player who plays for the honour... and very little else.

'They get their pocket money on the tour, but no pay,' explains Co Manager J. R. Williams, 'just as they don't get paid for playing at home.'

Maybe we haven't been the strongest Rugby League nation in the past, but we think we have a really fine side now, and we look forward to a better second-half to the tour.'

Because the New Zealand game is all amateur, two of their best players had to be left behind. Neither hooker Colin O'Neill nor full-back Don Ladner could be spared from their work.

'It means a real sacrifice on our players' parts to come on tour. A financial sacrifice and a sacrifice of family commitment,' Co Manager Bill O'Callaghan explained.

WORLD OPINION

ANONYMOUS letter writers never really make their point. If you want to be heard, don't be afraid to add your name and address to any letter you write to the club, or to the World.
Otherwise they won't be

ALL PALS TOGETHER UP IN THE STAND

THE BEST WAY to make friends and influence people?
Don't read books... just go down to Central Park at Wigan together.

That's the recipe
offered by Mr. and Mrs.
Blatteridge of Ashton-in-Makerfield.

Says Mister B: 'We have been coming to the ground for ten years and in all that time we have had the same seat.'

'So we have got to know everyone round us.'

Result: all those people are now their friends and good friends.

Says Mrs. B.: 'Going to see Wigan is a real entertainment, anyway.
But when you go down and meet friends you've made from Rugby it adds an extra spice and a new interest.'

They both recommend married couples to take out a season ticket and follow their footsteps.

It's a wonderful way to develop a common interest
they say, very firmly.

Might not be a bad idea
if the Marriage Guidance people got hold of this idea.

You've only got to look at Mr. and Mrs. B. to see how happy they are together at Wigan Rugby League.

NOW OUR NET SPREADS

WHEN WILL WIGAN SIGN NEW BLOOD TO REINFORCE OUR STAFF WHICH HAS BEEN HIT BY A RUN OF INJURIES WHICH IS PROBABLY THE WORST IN THE CLUB'S HISTORY.

That's what you're all asking, and the club's reply is that no stone is being left unturned to get at least one new man.

But Wigan's Board
refuse to splash out in a short-term panic buying.

We must look ahead,
and bring players here who will fit into the side when our resources are back to full strength.

We can tell you:

1. Moves have started to interest a top class wing man now laying in South Africa to come to Wigan. There is no telling yet what our chances are.

2. Only two directors were at Huddersfield last Saturday. The rest were checking at a top clash Rugby Union game in the Midlands.

OUR MESSAGE TO IMPATIENT SUPPORT-ERS, AND WE UNDERSTAND THEIR RESTLESSNESS, IS
THIS: WE ARE TAKING
EVERY POSSIBLE
STEP TO REINFORCE
OUR DEPLETED STAFF.

WHAT ABOUT New Zealand Bernie
Lowther? You'll have read Press reports that we are interested in him, but at this stage we are not prepared to go further than confirm we have been checking on Lowther for some time.

A LACK OF CONVENIENCE

THE SCREAMS of the ladies could be heard all over the club... it sounded as though they'd seen a pack of mice.

Yes, just like that.

And the noise came from the ladies' toilet in the Wigan Social Club last Thursday.

What happened, then?
Electric wires in the ceiling fused, producing a blinding blue light. And a broken electric bulb or two.

The girls, three or four of them, so we're told,
rushed out of the place
like scalded cats.

All's well that ends well,
they say. And it ended well here. The lights were soon fixed, the wires were fixed the next day, and the girls were back in the toilet within the half hour.

After they'd had a drink. Of course.

WIGAN MISSING

THERE ISN'T one Wigan player in the Test team which meets New Zealand in the Second Test at Castleford... and who can remember that happening before?

But it's certain that Doug Laughton would have been there but for his knee injury which looks like keeping him out of the game for some weeks.

We have said so much about our injury bogey this season... but the fates still seem to be against us and the numbers out of action continue to pile up.

In fact last Saturday's team at Huddersfield had the look of an 'A' side rather than the first team.

So let's cheer up a bit and look back to last year's World Cup series when the above picture of our captain Doug (complete with tash now gone) with Keri Jones.
Now they're both out, and Keri permanently.

No Grounds

IN REPLY to Mr. Keane's comments in the last issue of Wigan World, I would like to point out that he doesn't mention the most important thing lacking in this town—and that is grounds to play on.

Why does he talk about insurance having a lot to do with it? I would like to draw his mind back a couple of years to the time when some lads came to the Supporters' Club Committee asking us to help them start a team.

This we did, and gave them every assistance possible. Then we went to Mr. Keane asking if our team could get into the Wigan Amateur League. If I remember rightly his reply was that they had no chance as there were no grounds for them to play on.

The lads were not to be beaten. They went off into the Salford League and played all their matches away. As a matter of interest, they won every one.

So come off it, Mr. Keane, there are more organisations like us in this town who would gladly sponsor amateur rugby teams. Let us highlight the main reason why the Wigan Amateur League is in need of teams: lack of grounds.

WEMBLEY? ONLY STANDING

ALL SEATS FOR the 1972 Rugby League Challenge Cup Final at Wembley have been sold.

In a circular to clubs this week The League announces that the only seats left are those which will be allocated to the eventual finalists. Not one is left for purchase by the public.

Indeed, standing accommodation is becoming restricted although some tickets for the under-cover Enclosure are still available. At 50p these are being quickly snapped up, and our readers are advised to write without delay if they want to make sure they see this season's Final.

Send you applications, enclosing 50p and a stamped addressed envelope to: The Secretary, Rugby League Offices, Chapeltown Road, Leeds 7.

Curtain raiser

There will be a curtain-raiser Schools match at Central Park before the New Zealand game on Sunday starting at 2 p.m.

It will be the Blau Cup Final between St. John Fisher and Pemberton School's teams.

The winners will go on to represent Wigan in the all-Lancashire Evening News Lancashire Tournament of which St. John Fishers are the holders.

Answers to Quiz in Issue Four:

1. Lewis Jones; 2. Keith Holden; 3. Wigan 10-7; 4. Reintroduction of the tap penalty; 5. Brian Nordgren, 64 tries; 6. 38-5, Wakefield T. v. Hull, 1962; 7. Yorkshire.

Another Quiz in our next issue.

THE MARTIN RYAN COLUMN

No cloud without a silver lining . . .

WITHOUT DOUBT, it's tough going for Wigan right now. But let's hear less about the cruel luck we've had with injuries.

I know we haven't fielded a full-strength team this season. I know it's tough.

I know half the town is asking when we are going out to buy . . . and I know what a difficult task faces the Wigan Board, because I am a member of that body.

I also know what a tremendously difficult job faces our coach Eric Ashton at this time. He is having to make bricks without straw, so to speak.

What I suggest to the Rugby enthusiasts of this town is . . . even the darkest cloud has a silver lining.

MAKING THE GRADE

What's ours at this time? The fact that so many of our 'A' team, many of them Wigan born, bred and developed, are being thrust into the crucible of first team football . . . and making the grade.

THOSE OF YOU WHO WENT TO HUDDERSFIELD LAST

SATURDAY WOULD HAVE SEEN THEM MATURING BEFORE YOUR VERY EYES.

Make no mistake, we almost won this one. Carrying a young and inexperienced pack, we still might have done it.

Right, so we lost in the end . . . but in the long term, I am convinced, we shall look back on this period and give thanks.

So many of our young 'A' team men have shown so much promise when thrust into the top class before their time, that I believe it's going to pay off very handsomely.

NAME TWO NAMES

It may be invidious to name names when no-one has let us down, but I feel I must say how much hooker Hollingsworth has impressed me, especially at Huddersfield last Saturday, and Kieron O'Laughlin.

Just a touch more experience, and these two will be pushing hard for the places normally filled by seasoned players. They have talent, spirit and guts and they are not alone in this 'A' side.

Those fans who are screaming for blood right now may remember this sticky patch with gratitude. Our 'A' team youngsters couldn't buy the experience they're getting for either love or money.

It's going to stand us in good stead before long and I am convinced that Wigan will be right in there battling for all the honours at the end of the season.

So why not go and watch this 'A' team in action? They're fun.

TREMENDOUS TACKLING

I watched them beat an experienced Swinton team last week and I was so struck by their tremendous tackling.

The art of tackling in League football has been lost with the introduction of the four-tackle rule. We see too much of two and three players mauling into an opponent.

Here we had man-to-man tackling, and it was needed. Swinton were getting the ball from the scrum, but Wigan's fierce tackling blunted them.

Give these Kiwis their credit, they are fine tacklers, and this is one department of the game where they can teach us lessons.

I trust our 'A' team don't lose the knack as they graduate to senior football.

In this department they can teach a lot of players in a lot of teams a lot of lessons.

Eric
Ashton
SAYS....

ONE THING people forget when they criticise New Zealand's Rugby League standards... and that is they are amateur players who play for fun.

This touring side which came here did so in that spirit. Back home the honour is the thing, and I have always felt that if there was a difference of £30 in the pack packet between winning and losing, you'd see a different set of Kiwis. They would learn to be professional... which is what is happening on this tour.

Living and playing together as a party day in and day out, with their game the main pre-occupation of them all, day in and day out, they have improved out of all recognition since the tour started.

People who thought they were anybody's push-overs ignored the psychology of a Kiwi Rugby League player... they ignored the fact that New Zealanders are quick learners.

In my view all they lack is experience—which they are absorbing each day that goes by—and professionalism.

CONVINCED—

I went to the First Test convinced that Great Britain would win with a bit to spare, and for ten minutes or so I had no reason to change my mind. Eight points up, Great Britain looked as though they'd coast it... and they eased up mentally.

That's when the Kiwis got back in, and a great try by their stand-off Graham Williams was the turning point, although there was some sloppy tackling from our lads at that point.

When they turned round only 13-12 behind it was obvious the Kiwis, who had been losing the scrums up to then, only had to get a bit of the ball and they could shock everybody. And they did, to win.

When touring sides get the smell of success in their nostrils they don't let the chance go and this Kiwi side—don't matter they are raw—showed speed, strength and determination.

They have a lot to offer, they have some really fine players, and I believe by the end of the tour they will have settled down into a really strong combination. What a pity they'll go back to their old ways of the game's the thing when they get back home.

STEREOTYPED—

It is their happy-go-lucky approach to the game, I'm sure, which stops New Zealand producing great sides. This lack of thought for the game leaves them somewhat stereotyped both in tactics and ideas. They have little change of pattern, their style doesn't vary, no matter what the state of the game.

Please don't imagine I am knocking our guests, I'm not. I have a great admiration for them, and I have nothing but admiration for the way they took hold of a surprised Great Britain side in that First Test and held on for a deserved win. Mind you, our lads had a well below par look that day. Most were right off form. In this game the New Zealanders looked fitter and stronger than Great Britain, and I have to ask whether, as the New Zealanders absorb a more professional approach to their game, WE IN THIS COUNTRY ARE FORGETTING THE CARDINAL PRINCIPLES.

It's not enough to call players together for a team talk at a hotel before a big game, without training sessions, give them a meal and a bed and introduce a snooker competition.

DROPPING OUT—

That's what happened before Lancashire played Cumberland and Yorkshire, and I'm afraid it's not good enough.

Why are the top-class players dropping out from County games? Simply because they know that this sort of preparation isn't good enough and that their displays are not likely to enhance their reputations.

That's my opinion, I'm afraid, and I don't think I'm far wrong.

It's not as bad, yet, with the Test team. But the way things are developing it isn't likely to be long before we have reached this pass there, too.

AND WE WON'T WIN ANY MEDALS FOR BRITISH RUGBY THAT WAY.

THE KIWIS MO NIGHT BEFORE

THAT WAS a night that was... the Saturday night two weeks ago when the written-off New Zealanders beat Great Britain in the first Test at Salford.

Back in their hotel at Stockton Heath, just outside Warrington, they made whoopee. Most through. 'We kept getting phone calls from excited fans back home. One pub in one back open 18 hours after the win,' said manager Jack Williams. 'They celebrated longer than we did.'

At 10 a.m. on the next morning when our photographer Ken Vincer called them relaxing... soaking in their triumph.

Second row forward Donald Mann of Auckland sips a can of beer while two more Kiwi's read the paper Test report.

Tucked away, there's the coach

Right at the back, far left, is the man who has welded this Kiwi side into an outfit to be reckoned with. He is D. L. (Lory) Blanchard, former Kiwi forward of the 50's, one of the finest coaches and Down Under.

Our injured Test skipper Doug Laughton wishes good luck to Kiwis Tony Krilitch, John Whittaker and W. Delan.

These Kiwis will always sing . . . and so often they'll produce lilting Maori choruses. When they do, their star pianist is Henery (yes Henery) Tatana, prop forward from Auckland.

Kiwis' at breakfast after a long night.

Oh yes, on special occasions you can have a beer at 10 a.m., and this was a special occasion. Look closely and you'll see the cans. Notice too, how alert these Kiwis look after hours of celebrations!

GROWING IN STATURE ALL THE TIME

WELCOME TO CENTRAL PARK to the eighth Kiwi team to tour this country. We've had a sneaking feeling all along that they could well be the most successful party ever to leave New Zealand's shores and, with one Test win under their belt and two games to go, the chance is theirs.

Certainly since their shock win over Great Britain at Salford on September 25 they have been playing with more confidence and a greater freedom.

New Zealand Rugby League is all amateur, and its Headquarters are in Auckland where most international matches are played on The League's own ground at Carlaw Park. The Auckland League has always been the strongest in the country, but many international players have come from other areas.

Whangarei is the centre of the Northern League, while the South Auckland League takes in Huntly and Ngaruawahia. Taranaki, on the West Coast of the North Island, is another Rugby League stronghold embracing New Plymouth, Inglewood, Waitara and Stratford.

Overseas touring teams invariably play matches at Wellington, while matches against Maori teams are played in the Rotorua area which is famed for its hot spring geysers and its trout fishing.

In the South Island, Rugby League is played on the West Coast where the game's headquarters are in Greymouth. Dunedin and Christchurch are also Rugby League centres.

The game in New Zealand is governed by the New Zealand Rugby League Council which consists of resident delegates representing the various provinces, and includes a Maori representative.

England. Also in the Kiwi side which beat Australia, scoring two tries. Scored one of the tries in the New Zealand win in the First Test a fortnight ago.

Robert McGuinn (Otahuhu Club, Auckland). Aged 23, 5 ft. 9 in., 12 stones. Played for Auckland for two years. Made the World Cup team last year. Played in only one match, against Australia, but was injured and replaced.

CENTRES

David Sorensen (Otahuhu Club, Auckland). Aged 22, 5 ft. 6 in., 11 st. 6 lbs. Freezing worker. Brother of a very famous Kiwi, Bill, who had his initial tour 20 years ago. Was a member of the squad which played Australia this season.

Dennis Williams (Te Atatu Club, Auckland). Aged 18, 5 ft. 8½ in., 13 st. Wages clerk. One of the youngest players ever to represent New Zealand. Despite his youth he has been playing the code for 12 years and had impressed with his strength against players of greater maturity. Played for New Zealand against Australia this year and attracted the interest of Australian scouts. Scored a try against Britain in First Test.

Bernard Lowther (Richmond Club, Auckland). Aged 21, 6 ft., 13 st. 7 lbs. Salesman. Started his international career last season against Great Britain, toured England and France for the World Cup series playing in all three tests. This year he took part in the test against Australia at Auckland. He has scored three tries in his total of 12 matches in a Kiwi jersey.

Fletcher Christian (Otahuhu Club, Auckland). Team captain. Aged 27, 5 ft. 11 in., 13 st 4 lbs. Clerk. A very experienced player who first played for New Zealand in 1965. Has played a total of 49 games for New Zealand of which 22 have been Tests. Scored nine tries, four in Tests. Of his 21 appearances in internationals his first 13 were consecutive and after a break has now put together another string of 9. This is his fourth tour. At home he has taken part in five series against other countries.

STAND-OFF HALVES

Graeme Cooksley (Christchurch-Eastern Suburbs Club, Canterbury). Aged 22, 5 ft. 4 in., 10 st. Real Estate Agent. Has played Rugby League since he was five. Although he failed to gain selection in the tests against Great Britain last year he did make the World Cup team as a scrum half, his original position, and played in all three tests. Also substitute in the First Test.

Gary Woollard (Mt. Albert Club, Auckland). Aged 28, 5 ft. 9 in., 11 st. 4 lb. Radio technician. Played his first test, against Australia, in 1969 and went to England and France for last year's World Cup series.

SCRUM HALVES

David Dowsett (Otahuhu Club, Auckland). Aged 25, 5 ft. 7 in., 11 st. Television technician. Another of the team who toured Australia two years ago with the New Zealand under-23 team.

Kenneth Stirling (Ellerslie Club, Auckland). Aged 21, 5 ft. 7 in., 11 st. 4 lbs. Plumber. Another who has played the code almost all of his life, and has now 17 seasons behind him. Came into prominence this season with his selection against Australia. His selection repeats a fine family double as his father was a member of the 1939 Kiwi side. In the First Test side.

PROP FORWARDS

John Greengrass (Linwood Club, Canterbury). Aged 24, 6 ft. 1 in., 14 st 10 lbs. Freezing worker. Had his first appearance for New Zealand last year when he surprised by being selected for the World Cup team. Played in all eight games on tour. This year he failed to gain test selection but played for the New Zealand XIII against Australia. In First Test side.

Douglas Gailey (Ellerslie Club, Auckland). Aged 23, 5 ft. 11 in., 15 st. Bricklaying contractor. In England and France last year for World Cup, played in six matches. In First Test side.

Sportraits of the players

FULL-BACKS

Michael McLennan (Mount Wellington Club, Auckland). Aged 27, 5 ft. 10 in., 12 stone. A freezing worker, played his first and only Test against Australia earlier this year. A running full-back, but has also played as a winger. Played RL for 14 years, four seasons for Auckland.

John O'Sullivan (Ponsonby Club, Auckland). Aged 21, 5 ft. 11 in., 12st-6 lbs. Company rep. Although brought over as a full back his versatility is an asset to the side. Played RL for 16 years and represented Auckland in every season, through from schools' and junior codes.

WINGERS

Philip Orchard (Ngongotaha Club, Bay of Plenty). Aged 23, 5 ft. 10

in., 14 stones. Plasterer. Can also play at centre. Has attended three coaching schools and is renowned for his powerful running. Has played in four Tests, one against Australia and the rest versus Great Britain.

Maurice Brereton (Marist-Western Suburbs Club, Canterbury). Aged 24, 5 ft. 10 in., 13 st. 7 lbs. A policeman. Two seasons with present club after playing for four years with his native West Coast province. Played 15 games in the Kiwi jersey, including ten Tests, and scored seven tries. Came to England for last year's World Cup series.

John Whittaker (Randwick Club, Wellington). Aged 21, 6 ft. 2 in., 14 stones. A butcher. Has come through all grades of the game. Was on last year's World Cup side in Henery Tatana (Mt. Albert Club, Auckland). Aged 26, 6 ft. 1½ in., 16 st. Watersider. Toured Australia in 1967 and in England and France last year for the World Cup. Has played in four tests so far and has a total of 12 Kiwi appearances. Has tremendous success as a kicker for New Zealand and Auckland this year and kicked three goals in First Test.

Robert Orchard (Ellerslie Club, Auckland). Aged 26, 6 ft., 16 st. 7 lbs. Shopkeeper. Making his fourth tour overseas. On the World Cup tour last season. Has a total of 36 matches for New Zealand. So far he has played in 12 tests. Total try tally is 12. A sub in First Test, scored a try.

SECOND ROW

William Deacon (Ngaruawahia Club, Waikato). Aged 26, 6 ft. 2 in., 14 st. 12 lbs. Electrical fitter. Schoolboy Kiwi in 1959, first appearance as a Kiwi on 1965 tour of England and France. Was in England and France again last year for the World Cup. 35 appearances for New Zealand and his Test total is 13.

Donald Mann (Ponsonby Club, Auckland). Aged 28, 5 ft. 11½ in., 14 st 10 lbs. Fitter. Plays as prop for his club and Auckland. His versatility is of great value to the team managers. Garry Smith (Marist Club, Wellington). Aged 29, 6 ft. 3 in., 15 st. 10 lbs. Customs Officer. First played for New Zealand in 1966. Has played 25 Kiwi matches including one as a reserve and this total takes in 11 tests. Has scored six tries and one goal. In First Test team.

Anthony Kriletich (Marist Club, Auckland). Vice-captain. Aged 27, 5 ft. 10 in., 14 st. Panel Beater. Much of his football has been played as a loose forward. First played as a Kiwi when he toured Australia in 1967. Played in 1968 and 1970 World Cup series. Taken part in three test series at home, two against Australia and one against Great Britain. Totalled 26 matches, one as a reserve, and this includes 15 successive tests. Scored five tries. In First Test.

LOOSE FORWARDS

Murray Eade (Ellerslie Club, Auckland). Aged 23, 6 ft. 1½ in., 14 st. 7 lbs. Carrier. Another who can play in the second row or on the back of the scrum. Has played Rugby League for eight years.

Ray Williams (Richmond Club, Auckland). Aged 25, 5 ft. 10 in., 14 st. Plumber. Was injured in a match against Great Britain last year. Has been expected to make Kiwi honours for a while and his strong attacking games has now brought its reward.

MONEY FOR JAM . . .

FORMER Wigan player John Richards, now 'mine host' at The British Own Hotel at Pemberton, accepts two gold watches from Central Park Pools Organiser Ken Broome.

He runs an agency among his customers and won a watch for Mr. J. Gibson, 22 Church Street, Pemberton, and one for himself.

John has been selling Wigan Development Fund chances for months and months. But Frank Hilton, 26 Ravenswood Drive, Hindley, near Wigan, only started as an agent a week last Wednesday.

First time out he sold the £100 First Prize ticket to earn himself a £10 agents bonus for doing so, in addition to his commission.

'Not only is it fun,' grinned Frank, 'but it's very rewarding in more ways than one.'

WHO HAS played most matches for Wigan—Billy Boston or Jack Cunliffe?

That's what Mr. R. Fishwick of 16 Canberra Road, Marsh Green, asked us—obviously thinking that one of the two holds the Central Park record.

Billy Boston's Test brochure claims that he made 473 appearances for the club and, though the club records are incomplete, we know that will be about right. And that's a lot more than Jack Cunliffe although here again, our records are not complete.

But neither can beat our present coach, Eric Ashton. He played 502 games in the Wigan first team.

Inexperience caught up with Wigan

Star of the match Eddie Cunningham going over for a try against Hull Kingston Rovers.

Wigan 33
Hull KR 10

A MUCH-WEAKENED Wigan side dominated an almost full strength Hull to produce a brilliant victory which delighted a crowd which feared the worst before the start.

Man of the match was Eddie Cunningham, whose strong running, and powerful breaks, created havoc among the visitors who never really got to grips with him.

His 60 yards try, which left the Hull centre trailing badly, would have done credit to a centre and he was well supported by captain-for-the-day Colin Clarke whose leadership was first class. Colin Tyrer had a good game, too, capped by six goals.

Man for man, Wigan should have had little chance here and only one word sums up the performance of the whole team: FANTASTIC.

Cunningham (2), Eastham (2), Ayres, Francis and Tyrer scored the tries and Tyrer kicked six goals.

Wigan: Tyrer, Wright, Francis, Rowe, Eastham, Gandy, Ayres, Hogan, Burdell, Clarke, Cunningham, Ashcroft, O'Laughlin.

Huddersfield 17
Wigan 13

WITH JUST two experienced players in a pack consisting of 'A' team men, Wigan could have won this. As it was, a sadly depleted side went down on a ground where we normally expect to win.

No-one could have asked more of the side, who gave everything they had to the limit of their ability, but the ball didn't run for us.

Ayres knocked-on with the line at his mercy. Then it happened to Park. Wigan were made to pay when Huddersfield caught us napping twice—once out of the scrum, and once from a play the ball—to snatch two tries out of the blue.

It was sheer inexperience that caused it, and underlines the extremely difficult situation facing the experienced players still available.

Wright, Hill and Molyneux were the Wigan try scorers. Tyrer kicked two goals.

Wigan: Tyrer, Wright, Francis, Hill, Eastham, Gandy, Ayres, Hogan, Hollingsworth, Ashcroft, Park, Molyneux, O'Laughlin (Kevin). Subs: O'Laughlin (Keiron), Ramsdale.

Drop goal worth only one point

THE DROP GOAL scores only one point in all games against the New Zealand tourists, so remember that when the Kiwis play at Central Park on Sunday.

The New Zealand League raises no objection to our continuing with our practice of lobbing the ball gently into the scrum, but insists on the International Rule being observed and that their players be allowed to put the ball in with a downward motion or roll it along the ground into the scrum.

The New Zealand League will not agree to our British rule regarding players who are substituted themselves acting as substitutes. Against New Zealand two substitutes can be used at any time up to the final whistle, but the players substituted are not able to return to the field of play.
