WATERSHEDDINGS SURVEY

WE extend a double welcome today both to the players, officials and spectators of the Carlisle club, making their first appearance at Watersheddings, and to our very own Cumbrian, Alan McCurrie, who is expected to make his Oldham debut after being cup-tied and unable to play against Huddersfield last Sunday in the second round of the Player's Trophy.

In their very first season in Rugby League, Carlisle look set to make a determined challenge for promotion to the first Division and anyone who saw them give Widnes a fright last week-end in the Player's Trophy will certainly vouch for that.

To the newcomers we extend a real Oldham welcome and link with that the hope that today's historic occasion will be but the first of many, many visits to Watersheddings by the Carlisle club in the years that lie ahead.

We extend a similar welcome to Alan McCurrie and trust that he will enjoy a long and memorable career at Watersheddings following his transfer from Wakefield in the deal that took Billy Harris to Belle Vue.

Alan, who is 27, is regarded by many shrewd judges as one of the best hookers in the game, his abilities also extending to the loose where he has proved many times over that he is a good footballer and a clever attacker.

A Whitehaven lad, he signed for his home-town club when he was 20 and gave four-and-a-half season's service at the Recreation Ground before moving to Wakefield in an £11,000 deal three and a half years ago.

He has played many times for Cumbria and has helped his county to win and then retain the county championship in the last two seasons.

We have very good reason to know all about Alan because he has twice played a major role in our exits from the Challenge Cup in matches against Wakefield Trinity in the past year or two.

As Alan arrives, Billy Harris moves on to Belle Vue and we would like to take this opportunity of wishing him as much success there as we wish Alan here.

Billy signed for Oldham last January from York and he has proved himself a popular player in the Second Division this season, being an ever-present in the Oldham front-row up to and including our win at Dewsbury two weeks ago.

Trinity were keen to sign Billy in much the same way that we were keen to sign Alan and it was felt that a player-exchange deal, plus cash to Trinity, was in the best interests of both clubs.

As the deal was going through, Barrow also approached us with an offer for our long-serving forward Steve Herbert and terms were finally agreed for the transfer of Steve to Craven Park.

Herbert made 150 first-team appearances for Oldham in his seven years at Watersheddings since he turned pro for us from Leigh Colts.

Seven years is a long time to spend at one club and Steve will take many memories with him to Furness.

It goes without saying that on behalf of everyone at Watersheddings we wish Steve a happy and successful stay with his new club.

Turning to football matters, our "A" team enjoyed a creditable 20-9 win at Leigh in which Steve Littler, Gerrard Nolan and Derek Seabrook scored tries, Seabrook dropped a goal and Alan Platt kicked five goals.

It was Platt's second game in 24 hours because on the previous night he scored all Lancashire's points - a try and two goals - in a 16-7 defeat by Yorkshire in the inter-county Colts match at Hull.

The Oldham club had a total of five players on duty in the Red Rose team - Platt, Jimmy Swain, Les Chadwick and Paul Lowndes in the pack and Stephen Dobb on the wing.

Our Colts continued their winning ways at St. Helens last Saturday when a Jimmy Swain goal and tries by Paul Lowndes (2), Les Chadwick and Stephen Dobb gave them a 14-12 victory. The Colts now have six wins and a draw from their nine games.

We qualified for a place in the quarter-finals of the Player's Trophy for the first time with a 13-0 home win last Sunday against Huddersfield.

Huddersfield fought every inch of the way but we earned our place in the last eight with tries by Brian Caffery, Andy Goodway and Dave Nicholson and two goals from Mick Parrish.

It meant that we again went into the hat for last Monday's draw and, sure enough, our luck again held true with another home draw.

This time we were paired to meet Leeds here at Watersheddings next week-end in what should be an absolute cracker of a third-round tie.

The full draw is: Barrow v Hull; OLDHAM v Leeds; Salford v Swinton; Widnes v Hull KR.

CONGRATULATIONS to our teenage second-row forward Alan Platt on being chosen to represent Great Britain Colts in the forthcoming international at the Boulevard, Hull, on December 6th. This match will precede the full international.

Congratulations are also in order to Jimmy Swain and Paul Lowndes who are both in the shadow squad.

Whilst we are talking about the Colts a pat on the back is due to coach Brian Gartland who started this season with two-thirds of his team consisting of lads who had never played any serious rugby before, and yet they stand at present fifth in the league with six wins and one draw in nine matches.

So, well done Brian.

TELEVISED GAMES

by Brian Batty

WITH a stroke of luck or rather some sensible negotiating the BBC will be persuaded by the League to scrap their present system of early kick-offs for televised games.

Since this column first condemned the 2.15 kick-off a month ago there has been a growing response from many other quarters equally concerned about the switch.

The attendances at the two respective county cup finals bore out my fears, particularly the Yorkshire clash which drew under 6,000 although there did appear to be more there on a perfect afternoon.

But then we had less than 3,000 for Warrington's John Player Cup-tie against Fulham which must have been a blow to the sponsors as much as they court television for their exposure.

Now the League have decided they cannot continue in this vein and it is certainly not helping the game's image to see empty terraces as we did at Wilderspool.

Let us hope the talks between the two parties to this ticklish problem are resolved and that we revert to the more standard time of three o'clock.

There are a lot of people whose Saturday mornings are earmarked for regular duties around the house or shopping and the 2.15 kick-offs leave no time to take lunch and travel to a game.

Then there are the fans who take a regular lunchtime pint and like to take their time arriving at the ground. They are not likely to change a habit of a lifetime.

I understand that until the situation is sorted out the BBC could even insist on having the Wembley final start at 2.15. Not that this would arise – it would not suit them.

A lot of fans tell me they are disappointed with the showing of the highlights and the general presentation.

There is, it is claimed, a lack of balance generally with little of the finesse and polish that goes in the Rugby Union special on a Sunday.

Why the gap should remain in this day and age I cannot fathom unless the BBC feel viewers identify league better if it is presented in this fashion.

A History of Rugby League in Carlisle

by Tom Webb

THE Carlisle City Rugby League club was formed in June 1928 after a suggestion to form a club had been made in the previous April at a meeting in the County Hotel. Present were members of the Carlisle and Cumberland Greyhound Racing and Sports Company and officials of the Rugby League.

On June 9th, 1928, the Carlisle City club was admitted to the Northern Rugby Football League by 20 votes to 2, only Leeds and Featherstone Rovers opposing the entry of the new club.

Rugby League football had been played in Cumberland since before the turn of the century but it was over a quarter of a century before the game took roots in Carlisle, even though it was only a short lived club.

The first signings were Bobby Scott who hailed from Aspatria, full back, from Huddersfield who had played for Batley; J. T. Peel of Huddersfield who was born in Flimby and who was a descendant of the legendary John Peel the huntsman; George Ellis from Wigan a native of Millom; H. James a Welsh Rugby Union international from Leeds; W. Gunson from Great Clifton; Ike Southward from Dearham; W. Irving also from Dearham; R. Lowery from Bradford Northern a hurdle racer and cross country runner from St. Bees; F. S. Railton from Dearham; R. Sandham also from Dearham; E. Howe from Aspatria who did not make any appearances, and who had had trials with Huddersfield; H. Buglass from Dearham; and Ted Hodgson the trainer who had had playing experience with Brookland Rovers, Hull Kingston Rovers, Barrow and Bramley.

Other players to join the club were Little, Denwood, Fearon, Owen, Tweedie, Fairfax, Green and Key. O. W. Errington a native of Aspatria was also signed from Huddersfield. Altogether there was a fair mixture of experience and youth.

The club played 10 games of which one was won and the rest lost. The Cumbrians scored 19 points but conceded 166. Four players shared seven goals while ten players shared 15 tries.

The new club which played at the Greyhound Stadium, Harrowby Park, Carlisle, did not attract much support and after only two matches it was obvious that the club would not be able to survive.

An application to transfer to Maryport was turned down by the Rugby league authorities. The club immediately disbanded. In view of the way that Wigan Highfield were able to move first to London, then to two different grounds in Liverpool before becoming Huyton, it seems beyond comprehension that the club was not allowed to move into an established Rugby League area.

In 1951 a new club was formed, the Carlisle R.L.F.C., which started in the amateur game. The intention was to build up support and then to promote a senior club. Unfortunately the club lacked a suitable ground and the Cumberland Rugby League Commissioners were not too helpful in the financial sense. The two major Cumberland clubs would not grant curtain raisers to the new club so that it could gain some financial support. Carlisle United refused to consider allowing the club to share its ground.

The club president was Mr. Heyworth, director of schools in Carlisle, but no schools in the city played Rugby League. The nearest Rugby League sides were in the Workington area, hence the club was cut off. Ike Southward helped with the coaching during the time the club lasted which was no more than two or three years.

RUGBY LEAGUER

WEEKLY coverage of the 13-a-side code is provided by the RUGBY LEAGUER. News and views from all the professional clubs, plus full photographic coverage of matches, together with a comprehensive insight of the amateur game are among the traditional features of the game's only weekly newspaper.

Highlighted by exclusive articles from television commentators RAY FRENCH and KEITH MACKLIN, the LEAGUER can be ordered from newsagents or subscription details can be obtained from: The Rugby Leaguer, 164 College Street, St. Helens, Merseyside.

NAY, REF. I COULD DO BETTER MYSELF!

by Alan Burke,
Public Relations Officer, Oldham Amateur Rugby League

PROFESSIONAL Rugby League has naturally been given a terrific boost over the past couple of seasons with the introduction of new clubs, Fulham, Carlisle and Cardiff City, while the amateur 13-a-side code has also maintained its ever-increasing popularity with many more new teams once again being formed throughout the country. In Oldham, the introduction of Abbeyhills, along with reserve teams at Higginshaw and Shaw, has been part of another increase in the number of teams competing in the Pennine League, and which has been reflected in many other regions. More interest than ever before seems to be taking place in the administrative and playing aspects of the game, although there is still one area that is desperately short of newcomers – refereeing.

For every two new amateur teams that are formed at least another one referee is also required, although it is becoming more increasingly evident that although most people like to criticise the 'man-in-the-middle', very few are willing to attempt the task. The Pennine Amateur League, which covers an area from Oldham to Rochdale in Lancashire through to Huddersfield, Halifax and Bradford, in the White Rose County, can this season boast a total of eighty open-age sides playing every Saturday, although each weekend often brings a desperate attempt to ensure that all the games are covered by a qualified match official.

The number of referees available for amateur games is depleted each week by the requirements of matches in the professional code, which naturally take priority, and which include fixtures at senior, reserve team, colts and youth levels. It therefore follows that the amateur leagues not only need enough referees to take charge of their own matches, but sufficient to provide cover for when they are required by the Rugby Football League, or whenever they may be injured or otherwise unavailable.

A natural progression for a match official is to firstly act as a touch-judge for an experienced colleague at amateur games, and then begin to take charge of matches in the local youth leagues. Afterwards, the referee would then receive open-age matches in the lower divisions and, depending on his own ability, would progress through the higher standard of matches and on to the list of referees required at professional level. The current situation, however, is such that a new referee is being asked to immediately assist at open-age level due to the shortage of qualified match officials, as well as being appointed for youth games on the same weekend.

Naturally, followers of amateur teams at open-age level expect a referee to have gained some previous experience, and are not akin to allowing such a newcomer to learn his trade while in control of their own sides. The situation can only be changed if many more people cease to shout advice to their weekly match official, and actually put into practice what they preach.

Any budding international referees in Oldham can begin their progress to the top by firstly joining the Oldham Rugby League Referees' Society, who are actually holding their monthly meeting in the Watersheddings Social Club tomorrow evening (8 p.m.).

An open invitation is always given to anyone wishing to attend the meetings, and so why not go along and then show the current referees how to do the job correctly ???
