Youngers Alliance Challenge Cup

This evening's Watersheddings clash between Oldham and Salford is the tenth Youngers Challenge Cup Final. Ian Proctor reflects on previous finals.

1985 – WIDNES 30, SALFORD 12

Widnes became inaugural winners of the Alliance Challenge Cup with a well-deserved 30 - 12 Naughton Park victory over gallant Salford, who had suffered a heavy league defeat by the Chemics just a few weeks previously.

With the Ruane brothers, Andy and David, well to the fore, a bundle of energy named Paul Hulme just beginning to make people sit up and take notice, and such as Ian Gormley and Barry Dowd controlling things Mal Aspey's Widnes shrugged off their indifferent league form to take the Cup.

1986 – LEEDS 16, SWINTON 18

Swinton led from start to finish, but Leeds hooker Colin Maskill narrowly failed with a touchline conversion which would have taken the game into extra-time. The game was an end-to-end thriller and the men from Station Road deservedly put their name on the trophy with some quality football.

With Les and Michael Holliday calling the shots in a pack which also contained Bill Lomax, the Lions side also contained impressive full-back Mark Viller, half-back Martin Lee, Tex Evans and try-scoring winger Andy Rippon.

Leeds, as pre-match favourites, disappointed the home fans with their first-half showing (they trailed 4 - 11), although tries from Richard Gunn, Andy Staniland and substitute Martyn Smithson threatened to save the day. It would have been a travesty if the Lions had been denied.

1987 – HULL KR 0, HULL 12

David Elliott's Airlie Birds scored three tries to nil to take the spoils in a tense, thrilling encounter in a Craven Park mudbath. But the Robins were unlucky with injuries.

Cornerstones of the Hull side all season were Steve Hick and Paul Welham, and impressive on the night were prop Mick Sutton, former Robins star Tracy Lazenby, a crucial try-scorer, Stuart Vass, Billy Mallinson and a young Lee Jackson.

An early hip injury restricted Mike Fletcher's effectiveness for the Robins and with a side containing legendary former Australian Test star Kerry Boustead (at stand-off), Des Harrison and Paul Speckman, a chronic lack of possession cost them any chance of victory.

1988 – ST. HELENS 16, BARROW 14

With Paul Doherty in superb form, taking the first Man of the Match award in an Allinace Cup Final, Saints just had too much all-round ability for a never-say-die Barrow side which almost saved the day with a storming late rally.

The hard-running of South African Nick du Toit and determination of Pat Trainor and Brian Blacker were impressive features of a gallant effort from the Furness men.

But a poor first-half left them with too much to do, Graham Liptrot leading the home side well, and a front-row of Phil Southward, Mark Lee and John Harrison paving the way for Doherty, Mark Bailey and Sean Devine to take control behind them.

1989 – LEEDS 24, ST. HELENS 12

Supremely led by skipper and Man of the Match Paul Gill, Leeds deservedly denied Saints the honour of becoming the first side to retain the trophy in a gripping contest at Headingley.

The former GB Amateur full-back was outstanding in his new front-row berth in a pack which contained Richard Gunn, Vince Fawcett, try-scorer Gary Price and evergreen John Holmes. Oldham-produced Mark Lord scored two tries for a Leeds side coached by Norman Smith, while international halves David Creasser and Paul Delaney always had the measure of opponents David Fairclough and Mark Bailey.

Saints, skippered by Chris Arkwright (who was sin-binned early in the final), had outstanding figures in try-scorer John Harrison and ever-dangerous Alan Hunte, but the night belonged to Leeds.

1990 – BRADFORD 10, HULL 23

Hull completed a Championship/Cup double with a clinical demolition of host club Bradford Northern and their fine blend of youth and experience paved the way to success.

It was ex-Kiwi winger Dane O'Hara who turned the clock back with a scintillating hat-trick of tries in a 23 - 10 victory, and, skipper Steve Crooks and veteran Tim Wilby also set a fine lead. Man of the Match Steve McNamara, Lee Hanlan and Paul Welham were impressive throughout for the well-supported Hull side.

Hull duly became the first side to win the Youngers Alliance Challenge Cup for a second time, but Second Division Northern, coached by John Simpson and including such as Darren Moxon, Craig Richards and Richard Francis in their line-up, were far from disgraced.

Previous Finals

1991 – BRADFORD 25, CASTLEFORD 4

More than 3,000 braved the Odsal elements to see Bradford atone for their previous season's defeat. And they were full value for this comprehensive victory over Mick Morgan's side in the first all-West Yorkshire final.

With rampaging back-rower Paul Rhodes in irresistible form and the support of Paul Grayston, Mark Wilson, Darren Moxon and Alex Green always evident, Bradford rarely looked like losing a one-sided contest.

Castleford, appearing in their first final, having won the Yorkshire Senior Cup on numerous occasions, were a big disappointment and only rising star Andy Hay enhanced his reputation in a pack which was completely out-muscled.

1992 – WIGAN 28, WIDNES 14

Wigan finally claimed the Alliance Challenge Cup for the first time to emulate Hull's 1989/90 double-winning achievement. And, led by ageless player-coach Graeme West, they were at their very best against George Nicholls' Widnes, who simply refused to throw in the towel.

Steve Blakeley led the way for the home side with two tries and five goals and there were memorable efforts from Andre Sloop and Sam Panapa in a Wigan team in which teenage back-rowers Mather, Farrell and Cassidy all gave a hint of glory days to come.

Widnes front-rower Harvey Howard had a mighty game and, after trailing 24 - 2 at the break, the Chemics, whose side contained Christian Tyrer, Jason Critchley and Karle Hammond, deserved credit for battling through to the end.

1993 – LEEDS 8, WIGAN 32

Wigan became the first club to retain the Youngers Alliance Challenge Cup with an almost contemptuous six-tries-to-one defeat of Leeds before a crowd of nearly 4,000 at Headingley. And the star of the show was a 17 year-old who would return to the Leeds ground to make his Test debut against the Kiwis before the year was completed.

Andrew Farrell was magnificent in a Wigan pack containing the likes of Martin Hall, Graeme West, BJ Mather and Ian Gildart, with Mike Forshaw and Mick Cassidy on the bench. No wonder they won the forward battle to set their side on the way to victory.

Paul Stevens scored two tries for Wigan and there were impressive performances from Martin Crompton, Paul Atcheson and Scott Naylor. For the vanquished home side, 17 year-old Graham Holroyd never stopped trying, landing a monster of a touchline conversion to Matt Shaw's try which gave them a short-lived lead. But they were never going to keep the cherry-and-white tidal wave at bay.

In Focus

Oldham entertain Salford in the tenth final of the Youngers Alliance Challenge Cup at Watersheddings. And while the Roughyeds may be from the Second Division of the Alliance league, it is unlikely that double-chasing Salford will be taking them lightly.

Oldham are on course for an unprecedented 'clean sweep' of the major trophies in Alliance football, heading the Second Division table by eight clear points from Dewsbury, and having won the Lancashire Shield and the Second Division Cup.

Shane Tupaea's men come into this final with an unbeaten record during a season in which they have played some sparkling football. They have amassed almost 700 points in a 19-game unbeaten sequence in the Second Division.

Salford, coached by the highly-respected Steve O'Neill, have performed impressively all season and the feeling at the Willows is that the club have some of the best youngsters in the game on their books.

Both teams warmed up for the final with comprehensive victories last weekend.

Oldham were 30 - 6 winners at home to Carlisle, with Charlie McAlister scoring two of their tries and Alfie Goulbourne also on the try-sheet. Goulbourne scored a hat-trick in Oldham's 32 - 20 Lancashire Shield Final victory over neighbouring Rochdale Hornets.

They did it much tougher in the Second Division Cup final against Ian Brooke's Doncaster, before winning 20 - 14.

Steve O'Neill has created a reputation as one of the best young coaches in the game and it was no surprise when former Widnes colleague Eric Hughes tried to tempt him with the assistant-coach's job at St. Helens. O'Neill declined because he is enjoying life at the Willows so much.

Six points behind First Division leaders St Helens with two games in hand, the Red Devils can still complete a Championship/Cup double. But their minds will be concentrated only on cup glory this evening as they attempt to stop the Oldham juggernaut.

Whoever emerges triumphant however, a new name will go onto the trophy for the first time. Oldham are appearing in their first final and Salford are looking to atone for a 30 - 12 defeat at Widnes in the inaugural decider, nine years ago.
