Wilson's WORLD

...a look around the League with Chris Wilson

Welcome to the beginning of what should be a great season of celebration for the game of Rugby League in this country. It was one hundred years ago that a group of far sighted club secretaries voted to split from the shackles of the Corinthian idealists in London to form the Northern Union. The game of rugby thus became a sport played by men with completely different outlooks on life. These outlooks have seen the hugely different games of rugby league and rugby union emerge. While one can bring the might of the world media machine to trumpet its spurious claim to be 'amateur', the other makes no bones about its professionalism on the field but consistently fails to show professionalism off it.

Thus, we have before us a season which should have the highest profile yet but which seems to be content to preach to the converted. The World Cup begins in ten weeks and the publicity machine has yet to be stoked with coal. A season which, due to its brevity, ought to be a special event with a special format will become a standard procession of league games which could easily become meaningless for many clubs. The Centenary World Cup should be on occasion of national importance. Only in the game's heartland does any recognition of the event to come exist. This saddening state of affairs must change quickly if the game is to be taken seriously by the national media.

Another blot on the World Cup horizon has been the bitter dispute between the ARL and Super League camps in Australia which could see the game's premier tournament deprived of some of the world's best exponents of the arts and crafts of the game.

The Australian game is still at war with itself with "compromise" a word bandied about but left on the table at the end of the day. Ken Arthurson seems to be protecting 'his' game like a mother hen, unable to let it go into the big world and fend for itself.

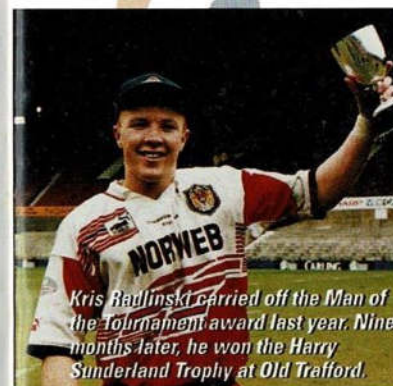

Regrettably, the close season has been littered with stories of clubs throwing money at rugby union players who may or may not make the grade. For every Tuigamala or Davies, there is a Gallagher, an Evans or a Carrington. A lot depends on whether the buying club is willing to forgo instant dividends to spend time with their signings, grooming them to what is, after all, a different game.

Looking on the positive side, March 1996 should see rugby league emerge into the summer sun with a leaner, fitter more financially aware attitude. The number of clubs going full time is increasing. The number of clubs appointing Chief Executives to look after the business is also increasing. The game is slowly coming to terms with the fact that sport, whether we like it or not, is a business. With the amount of money now available to the game, the chance for consolidation and expansion should not be missed. That money must be sent wisely. The change to summer rugby (incidentally, whatever happened to the RFL's report on summer rugby?) and the influx of Murdoch's millions is all about spreading the game nationally. Only if new clubs from non-traditional areas are in it after five years can the Super League be said to have been a success. After a hundred years of trying and failing, the next five years will be critical for the game of rugby league in Great Britain.

Clubs are building squads to take them to the new Super League with business being brisker on the white rose side of the Pennines, Castleford, Keighley and Sheffield being particularly busy. Both Leeds and Workington have lost their coaches. Dean Bell and Hugh McGahan form the new team at Headingley. Both come with high reputations but are untried in the coaching role. They are fortunate to have five months of competitive fixtures to get it right before Super League gets underway. The Cumbrians meanwhile have yet to appoint a successor to Peter Walsh who has taken them from the Third Division to the Super League. Brian Smith has replaced Peter Fox at the new look Bradford Bulls. Smith's return is a welcome addition to the game in this country and a damning indictment of the strife in the Winfield Cup.

On the field during the summer, the Australians proved that they could field two Test match sides by thumping New Zealand with a virtual second team. The Kiwis were unable to break down the well organised Aussie defence making just a handful of clean breaks in the three match series. They also conceded points at the end of each first half allowing the Australians to enjoy a psychological advantage over the oranges. Wales enjoyed a good squad bonding Tour to the United States where the comfortable wins were secondary to giving new players a taste of International football.

France enjoyed a successful tour of New Zealand suffering a narrow defeat in the first Test but recovering to force a draw in the second meeting. Their World Cup group features Wales and Western Samoa whose squad has a sprinkling of experience and without doubt will be competitive.

This afternoon's Summer Sevens features Oldham, Salford and St. Helens from the red rose county while Yorkshire's representatives include Halifax, Keighley and Dewsbury. The main attraction is a New Zealand squad likely to feature Tuigamala and Henry Paul. Unfortunately, they have been drawn against the home side in the first round so the Wigan fans may be switching their allegiance early in the piece.

This time last year, Kris Radlinski carried off the Man of the Tournament award. Nine months later, he won the Harry Sunderland Trophy at Old Trafford capping an incredible season for himself and his club. The shortened version of the game gives a chance for players to show their skills and we are likely to be treated to some fine football from some of the country's best young players.

Chris Wilson

A Message from our Sponsors

Today's Sevens
Tournament kicks off the start of the most exciting and eagerly anticipated Rugby League season as our great game celebrates its centenary and looks forward to the future with the new Super League. And just like the game we're watching, Boddingtons has a similarly impressive history (stretching over 200 years) and a rosy future. That's just one of the reasons why our special relationship with rugby league in general and Wigan in particular is so important. We'd like to wish Wigan and the other teams competing all the best - today and throughout the revolutionary season.

Cheers

JUST A THOUGHT

The National Lottery has now been in operation for 36 weeks but can you think of someone you know personally who has won more than £200? Our opinion is NO. Are people becoming disgruntled? According to information provided by Teletext, a Bristol lady reckons that the organisers, Camelot, "do not let the balls spin long enough!". Well, her point may be arguable, but what we do know is that local people want to support parochial activities for the right cause. That's why Wigan's SUPER TEN DRAW is so popular. Loyal members know their contributions go towards the upkeep of their favourite Rugby League team who in turn continue to bring prestige not only to the town but to the North West. In return the Club hold out a helping hand to the community, with-out lottery handouts.

SCHOOLS PROJECT

Since the Schools Project was introduced in 1994, around 20,000 school children will have been shown through the various departments at Central Park in the first twelve months. Currently a brand new classroom is being constructed under the Whitbread Stand to enhance the project.

WHAT SUPER TEN BOASTS

For a 50p weekly subscription there is a chance to win a slice of the guaranteed £1200 prize money with a top prize of £200 that is won every week. Then there are

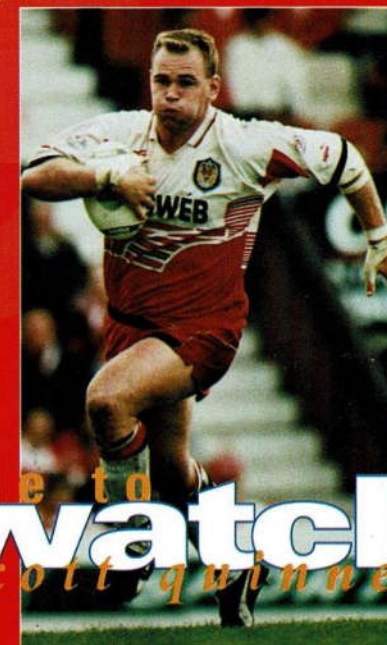

FIFTY numbers drawn EVERY WEEK whereby those members have a FREE personal chance to win the National Lottery - ALL FOR 50p! If you can't beat it, join it. To join ring our Promotions Department (01942 244367).

SUPER TEAMWORK

When it comes to dedication the Wigan Rugby League SUPER TEN canvass team has proved to be simply unstoppable. It was whilst covering an area of Aspull that the skies blackened, heavens opened amidst clatters of thunder and lightning. Where many would have given up - not these lads. They carried on recruiting and had a very successful response. Drenched they might have been but as one team member commented, "At least the weather forced everyone indoors". BIG LEAGUE BONANZA Wigan's latest BIG LEAGUE BONANZA tickets are now on sale.

The draw which carries a dream prize of a trip to Australia for TWO in 1996 is supported by loads of other attractive prizes. Tickets are £1 each and can be obtained from your usual Super Ten collector. The Club would like to invite interested supporters to help make 'Big League' a bumper success by taking a book of ten tickets to sell to friends and relations. There is 15% sales commission and free entry into a sellers draw for a Wigan R.L.F.C. Ladies and Gents watch set. For the supporter selling most tickets there is a special prize of the last 8 Cup Final Videos in an attractive cabinet.

SUMMER SEVENS 1995 | page 6

An earlier start than ever to the final winter season with the traditional Summer 7's really living up to its title with the July date. The Grand Slam season ended just two months ago when the task was completed in style at Old Trafford, and on behalf of all supporters the Association would like to thank Graeme and the lads for the entertainment and excitement they provided for us during the historic year.

TRAVEL

Next Sunday, 6th August, we travel to Warrington for what may well be the last ever Locker Cup match. Coaches leave Central Park at 1.45pm. Adults £3, Juniors £2. All travellers will, as always, need to be members of the Supporters' Association for this season's trips, and we have kept the nominal fee of just £1 for adults and 50p for juniors (Under 16s). Fans can renew, or join for the first time, at our shop under the Whitbread Stand or at our shop on the Spion Kop. Coach bookings can also be made at both shops. The first Championship match is at Workington on Friday 18th August - a pity it isn't on a Sunday as we always have a great full day out in Cumbria!! Coaches will depart at 4.30pm. Adults £8, Juniors £6.

CHARITY SHIELD

Between the Locker Cup and the Workington game is the Charity Shield in Dublin on Sunday 13th August. The Supporters' Association does not have a trip organised for this game as many people have already arranged their own transport, either for a weekend or just for the day, during the close season. Match tickets are available from Rugby League headquarters.

FIXTURE CARDS

At the Sevens we usually give out the small fixture cards for the new season, but this time the Alliance fixtures were not finalised until late on, so the cards are still in the process of being printed. If they have not arrived by today we shall have them available at the Sheffield match on 23rd August, or supporters can get them during the week from the Theme Shops or the ticket office.

CONFECTIONERY

The idea of selling sweets as well as programmes at our big shop on the Spion Kop was a great success last season and this will continue this year.

Sunday 13th August sees the Charity Shield played in Dublin where we take on old rivals Leeds

After six very successful seasons with Graeme West at the helm the Alliance team gained a new coach, John Pendlebury, for the 1994/95 campaign, and they got away to a flying start with big wins over Featherstone and Dewsbury in the first two games. Narrow defeats by Oldham and Hull spoiled the early part of September, but when the Lancashire Shield competition began with a 90-0 victory over Whitehaven. This signalled the start of a consistent run, and with wins against Salford, Swinton and holders Oldham the trophy went into the Central Park cabinet. The Final, on 12th November, was remarkable in that all Wigan's twenty four points came in the last sixteen minutes from two tries by Kris Radlinski and two tries from Andy Craig, all four of which were converted by Sean Long. As the season progressed several players caught the eye, with Long and Craig Murdock forming an excellent half back pairing and Andy Johnson completing the triangle with some excellent performances at loose forward. Scott Quinell made his debut in the 36-16 win at Salford, a deliberately low key introduction following the glare of publicity over his signing. All four of these players later got the chance to play a part in the first team success, but it was Radlinski who really made giant strides forward, culminating in his three try Premiership Final Man of the Match performance and his Young Player of the Season award. Another young player who came to prominence in the latter part of the season was Simon Haughton, who also scored a try in the Premiership Final.

The Alliance Challenge Cup was a big disappointment with defeat at the hands of holders Oldham in the first round, but several fine wins of varying styles in the Championship led to a creditable third place in the table, just two points behind leaders Leeds. Matches that particularly come to mind are the 54-28 win at St. Helens in the penultimate fixture of the season, a game played against opposition which also still had designs on top spot, a tremendous 68-63 victory over Castleford and, for totally different reasons, the 10-6 win at Dewsbury which took place on a pitch which looked like a cross between Southport beach and an Irish bog!!

Andy Johnson finished top of the try scorers with 20, whilst Sean Long gained most points with 196 from 18 tries and 62 goals. Craig Murdock amassed 160 points from 15 tries and 50 goals. Most appearances went to Andy Craig with 28. There were several candidates for the Supporters Association Alliance Player of the seasons, with Craig Murdock taking the honour. He received a trophy from the Association and a watch from Sponsors Goldsmiths' Jewellers of Market Place, Wigan.

This season the majority of Alliance games will be played on Thursday evening, but there will be a pre season "warm up" against Leigh at Hilton Park on Tuesday 8th August.

academy CHALLENGE

Well, one season barely over - and two more just beginning! Today sees the Annual Sevens, and with it our seasonal clash with close rivals Leeds.

I'm not quite sure what pointers Sevens Football gives for the season ahead, but it certainly gives the coaching staff and spectators an early opportunity to assess how young players have developed during the off season and a further opportunity to view any new or potential junior signings on display.

The game itself - it's usually quite close - with past results going the way of Leeds!
Let's hope that changes today.
