Three weeks without a home game results in "withdrawal symptoms" and it is truly refreshing to be back in action at South Leeds Stadium even though we are second favourites in today's game with Oldham Roughyeds. When I survey the scene from the front row of the directors box it is impossible not to look with envy at the extensive complex at the other side of our pitch. When you consider that the indoor athletics and bowls features - built at a cost of £4m - and the other broad range of planned developments we have to wonder what we did wrong when our request for a 10,000 seater stadium was denied. It was promised if we made Super League and the decision not to grant us elevation to the top echelon will go down in sporting history as an inexcusable, soul destroying, totally unfair and most despicable ruling.

The money to fund the new facilities includes a lottery grant of £3m, and it is a great pity that some of this windfall is not heading for our coffers.

However, we may benefit from the reputed multi-seater restaurant. It is possible that we may be able to stage our dinners, lunches, and other projects in this banqueting suite. It is regrettable that our current space for dinner guests is limited and that is why we have to patronise Leeds United's larger premises. The bar profits go to United and that is a vital loss of income to our club.

Mention of dinners reminds me that we are planning a Summer Frolic to follow our highly enjoyable Spring Fling and details will be available shortly. We must maintain our fund raising and I am "knocked out" by the recently launched HISSA members who plan to raise money for team strengthening next season. You have my sincere gratitude lads and hopefully your ranks will increase in the coming weeks when the plea "Gissa Fiver" becomes the regular greeting.

Each Super League club receives just over £600,000 a year under the current deal with BskyB and this expires at the end of 2003. Isn't it about time a TV deal was given to the Northern Ford Premiership clubs? We certainly are the poor relations!

But hope springs eternal - as any Shakespeare scholar will tell you - and we are still in evidence, paying our way, in the hope that sponsorship and improved attendances will be the norm next season.

Meetings to consider the structure of the NFP are imminent and fingers are tightly-crossed that the mooted two divisions plot is scrapped. We are not in favour!

We extend a welcome to Oldham who looked as though they would lose touch with the top nine in the NFP but are now staging a revival. They beat Batley away in convincing fashion and the fact that we lost to our near neighbours suggests that we could struggle today.

It has been a long and exacting season for our young players. We have seen signs of fatigue but there is no lessening of enthusiasm. I am proud of the lot of 'em.

May the better side take the points today. Enjoy the match. Cheer for the Hawks and bring a friend with you next Sunday when we clash with Sheffield.

Yours in Sport
Grahame Liles.

GARETH WALKER of Rugby League and League Express adds his name to the growing list of those calling for an NFP Origin.

ON the playing front, the recent Origin Series was a success. But isn't now the perfect time to introduce an NFP Origin for next season?

Leigh Centurions' coach Paul Terzis certainly thinks so. Writing in his monthly column for Rugby League World, Terzis says: "In future, possibly as a lead-up to the main games, it would be ideal if they had an NFP representative game as a preview to the main event.

"It would give the players in the NFP something to aspire to, show that there is some representative rugby there for them. You shouldn't have to be at the highest level - in our case at Super League - to receive representative honours.

"There's a void there - you've got representative honours at Super League at the top, and BARLA at the bottom, but nothing in between. All players should have a higher level to aspire to, to be able to test themselves.

"As has been shown with Stuart Donlan and David Mills, and Neil Turley last year, if the chances are given to the players they are going to perform.

"It would also bring coaches in line as well, and would help for attendances, because NFP supporters would want to see their own players.

"What players want is an opportunity, and an NFP Origin series would be fantastic."

There have been calls for such a game before of course, in this column and from previous NFP coaches such as Peter Roe. But now presents an excellent time to push forward with the notion, on the back of the main Origin Series, which seems here to stay.

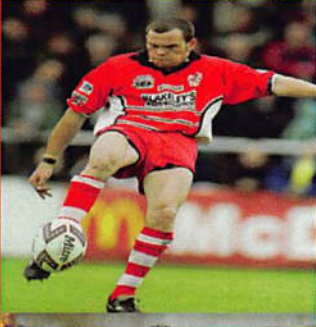

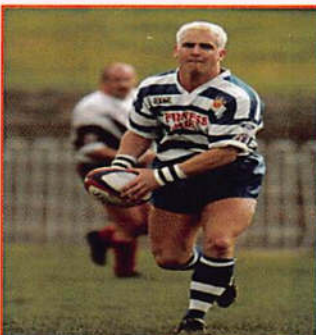

There is a wealth of talent within the Premiership, ensuring that the game would be a contest of high quality. Similarly, there are several top coaches in the competition that could lead the respective sides.

Cumbria could even be incorporated into the event - should the main Origin go to a three-match series next year, Lancashire, Yorkshire and Cumbria could play each other once as previews to the main match, with the winner the one finishing at the top of the table.

The inclusion of NFP games would surely boost the Origin attendances, with supporters of Premiership clubs keen to see how players from their clubs fare.

It would be great to give NFP players and officials representative games to aim for. Let's get the ball rolling.

TERRACE VIEW TIMES

by Andreus Gordo

Today we welcome the Oldham Roughyeds to South Leeds Stadium. I seems that Oldham are in a situation very similar to the one we found ourselves in several years ago. Playing at different grounds and generally leading a nomadic existence. I wish Oldham all the best for the future and hope that they have a better council than the shower it is our misfortune to have in Leeds.

I used to have a soft spot for the two-tiered stand at the watersheddings but wasn't it bloody freezing?

Well done to the young Hawks for gaining a draw against Swinton last week lets hope we can build on that and start to move up the table.

I used my Sunday off to visit Thwaite Mills on Thwaite Gate (which was Horns Putty Works when I was growing up) mainly because I used to have a film about old Hunslet including various famous Hunslet matches with a voice over by the bloke from Miggy who played Don Brennan in Coronation Street, well I eagerly took in the grand tour which was hosted by two decent blokes who looked like the Chuckle Brothers, only to get to the film at the end which is not now about Hunslet but bloody putty. If we have no matches on a Sunday there's no prize for guessing where I won't be!

Wasn't it hard look against Lancashire in the Origin game? It seems Belle Isle's finest Mr Karl Pratt has got a Great Britain call up on the strength of it. One thing I think the writer of the pen pictures in the Rhinos programme doesn't know about Karl is that his mum was in the same class as me at Belle Isle School and for all our time there she always brought the dog to school and it sat in the playground when we had lessons. (If that appears in the next Rhinos programme I'll show my bottom in Burton's window).

Huddersfield's relentless drive to the Super League is still on track and I've no doubt in my mind at all that if they get promotion (A) they will come bottom again and (B) who ever wins the NFP next year will have a hell of a job getting promotion (call me cynical if you like)

It's a shame for you Oldham types that this isn't a night match in February cos it would bring back memories of how cold it used to get at the Watersheddings. Speaking of cold stadiums (which you could argue we were) I see Caisley has rejected the 1/2 million quid offered to the Bulls to do up Odsal by Bradford City Council. I wish our lot were as generous. (by the way the 1/2 million could buy a massive box of semtex to be placed on the halfway line at Odsal and detonated, then see if it looks any different).

Anyroad lets have a belter today, lets hope the funny Roughyeds mascot is in attendance and hope the team playing in myrtle white and flame win.

MARTIN LUXFORD - LUCKY LUXFORD

A hooker who has been known to wear his wife's T-shirts on numerous occasions? Just another Hunslet player with their own idiosyncrasy, step forward Martin Luxford

Joining the Hawks five games into the season Martin remembers his debut, "I came on with about half an hour left of a defeat to Doncaster at home, although I did enjoy a good 35 yard break." Prior to the Hawks there was a spell with amateur side Stanley after he had left Wakefield. Martin's career high was signing professional for Wakefield at 17 years old, he adds, "I made my first team debut against Batley at 18 and I spent four seasons there but was not offered a new contract, so I was a little sad to leave." But he does maintain that his career ambition is to carry on playing at the top for as long as possible.

The Batley match saw a disappointing result after plenty of possession and a few good chances, Martin says, "we were in with a shout when we went in at half time at 10-6 but we missed chances, became a little complacent and definitely tired towards the end. The rain also made it very hard, the ball was very slippery making handling from half back especially difficult. Overall we should have won and we all really wanted to win." Particularly hard for Martin who describes his career low simply as losing games, stating it hurts to lose.

Now at the end of June the season is starting to draw to a close, but what are Martin's feelings towards the rest of the season, he says, "it is hard to say but we need to get a few wins and can then look forward to next season." But next season may, or may not, see the introduction of three main divisions seeing the NFP split in two, Martin adds, "it could be a good idea, it would make most games competitive and definitely close the gap between the teams."

Martin prefers to play at hooker and describes his own strengths and weaknesses as, "defensively I think I have been very strong for the past few weeks but I feel I haven't been making enough runs dummy half." Team spirit has always been good, leading Martin to say, "we were a bit down at the beginning of the season but there is a good buzz around the place after signing a few experienced players at add to the young lads, I think Roy has done well." Bringing Stevo back did seem like an inspired move, lets hope a few more things click into place today.

HAWKS FANTASY COMPETITION

Well here we are again! I'm back from holiday and rarin' to go (on another holiday!) Thanks for asking - yes we did have a good time although the weather wasn't as good as we might have expected. The worst part was when we had a puncture on the motorway and the missus's handbag was nicked. Still we sorted most things out in the end and what we didn't is covered by insurance (fingers crossed). So if you happen to be in the Basque region of Spain and you see a Spaniard with a handbag please kick him in the nads for me!

O.K. Down to business. Both the Fantasy Competition and the Hawks Handicap have been dramatic recently. I'll deal with the Fantasy Competition first and before I bring you right up to date let's look at the position after the Batley match.

You'll recall that when I last wrote there were only 2 entrants with a 100% record, Sarah Hopkins and Alan Stephenson (Big Al!). They both dropped two points by incorrectly forecasting that the Hawks would be victorious against Batley. This enabled Mike Johnson to catch up, all four being on 42 points. Gary Thurlow missed his chance to catch up as he too opted for a win against Batley and he was caught by Kirsty Hill and Darren Williams who lived up to his "Dismal Dave" moniker by successfully predicting the run of defeats during my holiday. They were on 40 points.

James Deighton, who for a long time was one of the joint leaders, had fallen off the pace with 38 points. Also on 38 were Carol Hill and Warren Murphy. Jane Hopkins, Jim Irons, Doug Wilford and Julie Binns come next with 36 points. The following were the positions at that stage:-

34pts. John Turner, Graham Liles, Howard Ibbetson, Phil Hodgson.
32pts. Graham Parker, Brian Smith, Ray Hill, Paul Newton, D. Thackrah, Hugh Needle, Graham Liles (2nd entry)
30pts. Alan Beckwith, J. Grant, Stuart Hill.
28pts. Peter Whiteley, Chris Hill.
26pts. David Gray, Richard Yelland.
24pts. Peter Whiteley (2nd entry), P. Paver.
22pts. Ron Fletcher.
18pts. Lily West.
14pts. Richard Holmes.
12pts. Bob Tate.
0pts. Alan Ingram.

But we then have the exciting draw at Swinton (for those of us who went). I always said that a draw would turn the Fantasy on its head and it has done just that. No less than ten people forecast the result correctly, Jim Irons, Howard Ibbetson, Graham Parker, Ray Hill, Stuart Hill, Chris Hill, Peter Whiteley (2nd entry - see above), Lily West, Bob Tate and Alan Ingram. Well, you can do the sums for yourself. The Silver Hawk himself, Jim Irons has taken the lead with 61pts followed by Howard Ibbetson on 59, Graham Parker and Ray Hill on 57 and Stuart Hill on 55. And can long time leaders, Alan and Sarah, catch up? Well if there are no further draws 20 points are up for grabs during the rest of the season and Jim is 19 points ahead. Watch this space!

Sorry! I've run out of room to give the results of Hawks Handicap Stage Two but we're at home again next week so not long to wait. I am also hoping to come amongst you with the entry forms for your final chance to win some money this season in Hawks Handicap Stage Three next week so why not bring a friend or relative who doesn't normally come.

Be lucky!

CONTROVERSIALLY YOURS. (from behind the pumps.)

Hi, everyone!

Anybody going to the Batley match at Mount Pleasant?

Anybody fancy walking it?

Anybody fancy raising much needed cash for the Hawks?

You could do all three by joining this years annual Sponsored Walk. Enjoy a fun day out and help provide much needed revenue to keep the club alive and competitive next season. Sponsor forms are available from the club office and in the Phoenix Bar at todays game.

It costs nothing to take part, just energy and effort and a willingness to help. Event such as these are vital to our great clubs existence, especially in todays troubled climate. Make the effort now before its too late.

How else can we all assist in the revitalisation of the club. Why not visit the Phoenix Bar in midweek? We open Tuesdays and Thursdays and all profits go directly to the club. Can't make it every week? Then visit us once a fortnight, or even once a month. Every little helps.

Why not join the recently formed HISSA, and "Gissa Fiver" campaign. Income from this source has already reached around £400 per month, and is still rising. Just five pounds per month is all they are asking. This amounts to approx' three pints of beer a month. Not a mammoth amount to ask really, is it. If every fan, director, sponsor, player, employee, well wisher gave this, we could be back competing at the very top again next year. So PLEASE, put your hand in your pockets and "GISSA FIVER"

Contact Darren Williams in the Phoenix Bar today, or ask in the club office for further details.

WE'VE SWEEPED THE SEAS BEFORE BOYS AND SO WE SHALL AGAIN.

Big Al.

Simon Says...

Batley And Beyond...

The Batley game proved a huge disappointment to me. I honestly believed we had a very real chance of upsetting the form - even more so since Dean Lawfords dispute - but the Bulldogs proved they had more guns in their ammunition in the form of Mark Cass. Cassy is a good old Belle Isle lad who has expressed a desire to come back to his roots previously.

Nuff said that the Hawks were just not quite at the races and changes ensued with the departure of Jermaine Coleman to pastures new and re-uniting with his Leeds Met Uni coach Paul Fletcher at Gateshead. Good luck Jermaine - maybe we couldn't sustain the positional pressure that was required to bring the best out in you. Welcome to Tere Ioana - that famous Kiwi from the plains of Keighley Albion.

It was certainly a different team that played at Leigh that night and produced a winning draw.

Swinton is a great little club with a very loyal and passionate following - much like ourselves.

The atmosphere created was fantastic that Friday night and a large Swinton team looked like they were gonna control matters. The Hawks had a relatively experienced pack led by Coyley and Steeeeevo and backed up by neat passing from Brad and Tony Howcroft. This released the younger guys in the pack for free reins and they answered with a brace for JonLee and a nice effort from Batman.

The backs were well marshaled by Tere and an excellent team effort led to a great time in the bar after. Hawks fans were particularly vociferous and mutual applause was evident after the final whistle. Well done everyone! Oldham Roughyeds arrive here confident after their recent hammering in the Buddies but no doubt still smarting from a home defeat by Batley last week. Good luck to both teams and may the best team win.

Next week sees Sheffield-Eagles here and another opportunity for the Hawks to show again.

County of Origin

Can't help thinking this game has failed ... Stage managed ... Key coaches ... homer players ... take your foot off the gas Ian ... Ok David .. Need more spin Brian. Booing off at the end ... the crowds getting restless ... more homers must score Brian ... Nuff said.I Think you've blown it Redhall! Time was when we would see the odd Second Division player turn out for his county - Peter Muscroft, Andy Kay etc . Wouldn't it have been good to see Bryn Powell have a go at that level - 15 years ago I'm certain he would have been selected. My suggestion ... lets return to the county cups and reintroduce Cumbria to the county scene. Its all Topsy turvy at the moment and ... your mission Mr. Lewis ... should you choose it ... is to redress the current imbalance!

Morgys Celebration

Congratulations to Hunslet P R Man and eminent local sports Journalist John Morgan who celebrated his 50 th Wedding Anniversary with his wife Maureen.

John puts a lot into the Hawks and is constantly banging the drum for Hunslet in the right circles.. as well as inflicting his jokes upon us. Congratulations John and Maureen.

Adam Hughes is my hero.

I chanced upon recently retired rugby journeyman Ian Hughes one morning and mentioned his brother Adam's fantastic feat in sticking it right up the Rhinos last weekend with a spectacular four try show. Ian's smile was wider than the Widnes- Runcorn Bridge - similar to the one shown on TV from Adam.

World Cup Woes

What do Michael Jackson and David Seaman have in common? They both wear gloves for no apparent reason! My full repertoire of censored World Cup jokes is available in the bar after the Game for the price of a pint!!!
