Beeb will miss the plum ties

IT'S not difficult to understand their thinking, but wouldn't it have been good had the BBC not opted to televised two all-Engage Super League matches from this weekend's Carnegie Challenge Cup fifth round?

I appreciate that the Beeb were always likely to plump for the plum tie between Huddersfield Giants and Warrington Wolves, the re-run of last year's Wembley final which will be shown on BBC1 on Saturday afternoon.

And I can see why Sunday's serving of live Carnegie Challenge Cup action on BBC2 is Crusaders RL v Catalans Dragons, the first time two non-English clubs have met in the last 16 of Rugby League's oldest and most prestigious knockout competition.

But at the same time, I have a sneaking suspicion that the tie of the round could feature two teams who weren't involved in the Magic Weekend in Edinburgh.

There is something intriguing about the events that will unfold at Craven Park on Sunday when Barrow Raiders, fresh from their exhilarating fourth round victory over Castleford Tigers, take on Hunslet Hawks.

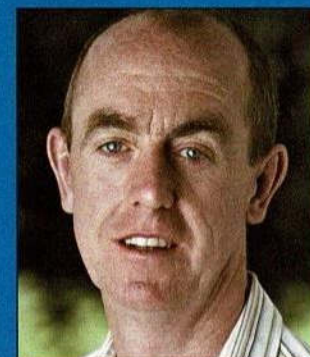

On paper at least, there seems little between two teams who are separated by a division and who have already made their own indelible mark on the Carnegie Challenge Cup in 2010.

Barrow, the Co-operative Championship champions, have hit top form in recent weeks, putting behind them a faltering start to their title defence with that famous win at Castleford and, more recently, a thumping victory at Cougar Park on Bank Holiday Monday.

That form - and pedigree - suggests the Raiders should find themselves in the bag for the quarter-final draw live on BBC2 on Sunday afternoon but no-one should discount Hunslet's prospects.

The high-flying Hawks are soaring under coach Paul March and have been scoring points for fun - only Featherstone, who have amassed 319 points to the South Leeds club's 318, have scored more - while March has shored up a defence which has been alarmingly fragile over the last few years.

It all makes for a fascinating Cup battle. It's only a shame the cameras won't be there to showcase to a terrestrial TV audience the high quality of Rugby League in the Co-operative Championships.

Mick only has eyes for future

One of Wigan's greats – but he's 100% Viking now

Report by BEN COLLINS

Mick Cassidy insists there will be no conflict of interest at the Stobart Stadium this Saturday. The former second rower was named in Wigan's team of the decade for the 90's after 14 years with the cherry-and-whites up to 2004.

But the 36-year-old, who finished his career at Barrow in 2008, is now a conditioner at Widnes, for whom he played from 2005 to 2007.

And he feels a Challenge Cup derby between the old rivals could be a taste of things to come for the Super League hopefuls.

"There'll be no divided loyalties, trust me," he said. "I'm with Widnes now. Everybody likes a good Cup upset and that's what we'll be going for."

"If it happened then I'd feel slightly sorry for Wigan - but elated for Widnes."

"There'll be a big gate, plenty of Wiganers will be coming to Widnes, and hopefully it's a sign of what it'll be like if we do get into Super League."

"I think the town has been missing games like that. The Widnes people love their rugby league and if we can get start getting bigger names and bigger teams here, I'm sure the fans will be there in their numbers."

"There's lots of history there and although Wigan-St Helens is the big rivalry, it's another local derby."

Cassidy played in many of the Wigan-Widnes derbies when the two clubs dominated the game in the 90's.

But the Vikings are still trying to get back into the big time after relegation in 2005, when Cassidy was named their player of the year.

"At the old Naughton Park, it was much closer in and the crowd was really deafening," he said.

"You just knew every time you went to Widnes you were in for a barrage of abuse from the crowd and a tough game."

"It adds a bit of spice and there's nothing better than seeing a top division one team take on a top Super League team."

"We're vying for a Super League spot and this is one of our biggest tests to see how far we are off competing in Super League."

Widnes have made a positive start to the season and overcame Wigan St Judes and Lezignan to reach the Challenge Cup fifth round. The Vikings also won five of their first seven Championship games before going down to a 9-8 defeat by unbeaten league leaders Featherstone last Friday.

"Our second-half performance was much better than it's been the last few weeks, especially considering Featherstone have got the best attacking record in the competition," said Cassidy.

Mick Cassidy in action for Ireland – the boots are still ready to put on if needed!

"We've shown we can attack in recent weeks and last week we showed we can defend - our defence was awesome."

However, Widnes' hopes of causing an upset against Wigan have been hit by a spate of absentees.

"There were 17 injuries on the board last week and we've got another four cup-tied this week," said Cassidy.

"The injury list is longer than our playing list sometimes!

WIDNES VIKINGS

The versatile Shane Grady is also a prolific goalkicker

www.rlphotos.com

But that's the nature of the beast at part-time.

"You expect the players to play and train at full-time intensity, but some of them have worked from 6.30am and come to us from 6 till 9. The demand on the body does take its toll."

Cassidy hung his boots up after representing Ireland at the 2008 World Cup and despite Widnes' injury problems, he is in no rush to get them back out.

"They're still there, ready and waiting, but the game seems to have got a lot tougher in two years so I'm happy to keep sticking these young kids in front of me!" he said.

"There's going to be a few youngsters in there. It'll certainly be a test for them but they've been picked because we've got confidence in them to play so it's a chance for them to show what they can do."

"Shane Grady has come through the ranks, he can play centre and in the back row, as he did last week."

"And David Houghton is another. He's a young kid playing in the front row, which is a tough position, so he's been doing well."

Saturday's game will be dropping some of Widnes' youngsters in at the deep end but Cassidy believes the experience will only stand them and the club in good stead.

"We've got some good youth development at the club and I think the club prides itself on picking up local talent and bringing them through instead of going to other areas," he said.

"It's certainly shown this year because we've had two lads out of the Under-18s make their debut this year - Tom Kelly and Jack Smith."

"If you can produce lads who get a chance at 17,18, what are they going to be like at 20?"

After joining Widnes last June, Cassidy has begun to play a bigger role in coaching the youngsters himself.

He began taking conditioning courses towards the end of his playing days and is hoping to add another string to his bow this season.

"I'm involved with the UK Strength & Conditioning Association, and hopefully I'll be an accredited member come the end of this season, which I believe the RFL want for all conditioners," he said.

"This year I'm trying to do more coaching as well, and I'm really enjoying it. I see my role as getting an apprenticeship in sports coaching. I've been helping out with the Under-21s and when young lads come through I will give them some tips and advice that they might miss out on because it's a big squad."

"I like the challenge of getting players fit and ready for competition, but I also know that's the first stage of preparing to play rugby because coaching comes on the back of that."

"I know how to get somebody fit - then it's about trying to make them a better player - and I think having done conditioning first will serve me well."

And Cassidy has set his sights on committing his future to Widnes as they ready themselves for that all-important Super League application.

"I can certainly see myself staying," he said. "I've spoken to the club about extending my contract because we do want to tie people in for the Super League bid."

"They're getting things right at Widnes, they've started from the bottom up, which every business or sporting foundation needs to do."

"And if we can finish in a healthy position this year then that's another tick in the box. If our injuries clear up by the back end of the season then I'm sure we'll be in the top four and in the running for a Grand Final, and we'd be quite happy with that."

KEEP AN EYE ON THE BALL

Danny Lockwood

AT LEAST two of our very own Co-operative Championship clubs will be included in the draw for the quarter-finals of the Carnegie Challenge Cup.

If everything goes to form then it will be the two high-riding Co-operative Championship sides Barrow and Halifax at the expense of travelling West Yorkshiremen Batley and Hunslet. No disrespect meant there to the troops of Karl Harrison and Paul March, but they will both have their work cut out, especially considering what's at stake.

A last eight tie away at Headingley or the DW Stadium anyone? It would be a club chairman utterly detached from reality who wasn't smacking his lips at the prospects of that kind of payday.

Again, and not to denigrate either the achievements or the qualities of Blackpool and Widnes, but the idea of them topping the mighty Wigan and Leeds engage Super Leeds outfits is rather stretching the bounds of possibility somewhat.

The very nature of Rugby League – its physicality, reliance on size, strength, raw power, and of course the full-time environment, means that upsets like, for instance that of Leeds Utd knocking Manchester Utd out of football's FA Cup, becomes less and less likely by the passing year.

Not that that will, or should, detract from the wholehearted and admirable achievements of our clubs from the second and third tiers of the professional game. They fly our flag with pride and all of them carry our best wishes with them this weekend, particularly Martin Crompton's men at Headingley, who continue to do great things over on the Fylde coast.

It's always interesting to hear Aussies speak of the magic of the Cup – and more on that word 'magic' in a moment. In the pre-satellite days the one thing about British Rugby League that the Australians saw on their televisions was the Pommies' big day out at Wembley. And for all that the Grand Final is the pinnacle of our season (at least in theory!) there is something altogether different about walking out at Wembley. All that history and nostalgia, all those greats who have gone before. So it's not surprising that it is the one thing our antipodean cousins strive to achieve in their stays here above all others. The fact is however that it is destined always to be beyond our Co-op clubs.

Back to 'Magic' and the question marks hanging over the future of the event, be that where it takes place, the format of the fixtures themselves, when it is staged and even what competition it adorns. Ian Millward, the Leigh Centurions coach and League Weekly columnist, wrote last Monday morning about his idea for the festival to either move to the start of the season, or even to be turned over to the Cup quarter-finals.

Provocative views, but creative ones too – and that really would be something for Co-operative Championship and even Championship 1 clubs, to share such a massive stage with the real big boys of Rugby League.

The RFL will consider all of their options over coming weeks and months, although a return to Edinburgh is by no means off the cards, as the aggregate crowd of about 51,000 although down on last year was by no means a disaster in these tough economic times.

In conclusion, and with our thinking hats on, I would also like the powers-that-be to take another look at the Northern Rail Cup and certainly how it is formatted in the early stages. It is growing in status as a competition, but is still far from fair – in my opinion – in giving every club a chance of progressing to one of our only two legitimate showcase stages. In fact the champions of the Co-op 1 league don't even get a chance to play on Grand Finals day!

Promotion without the big-day-out glory. Somehow it doesn't seem quite right.

Tommy Goulden in action for Oldham in last year's play-off final with Keighley ... Dewsbury were already promoted so 'missed' the big day!

Halifax chief executive Clay departs club

HALIFAX RLFC are looking for a new Chief Executive after Graham Clay stepped down from the role last week.

Clay, who owns his own sports marketing company and is heavily involved with the Gillette sponsorship support for Rugby League, has recently seen the demands on that side of his interests increase.

"I simply couldn't give both of the roles the amount of time that was required," he said. "We've come a long way at Halifax and finally got the East Stand open so that was quite an achievement."

Former Halifax chairman and still a shareholder Howard Posner has also stood down from the board, a decision not related to Clay's resignation.

The club were hoping to make a public statement during the past few days.

AFTER getting their season back on track with a drubbing of Whitehaven, Sheffield Eagles are likely to be without full back Jonny Woodcock and prop forward Jack Howieson for the rest of the season.

Woodcock is to have surgery on a knee injury and club captain Howieson saw a specialist last week and fears he will need an operation on a bicep injury.

"It's not good for Jack and Jonny and you don't want to lose big players midway through the season but I'm not going to moan, in this game we accept injuries," said coach Mark Aston. "People will come in and it's up to them to take their chance and do a job for the team."

Woodcock, 29, is facing his longest injury lay-off since he started playing rugby as an eight-year-old. He had hoped to be back in six weeks. "I can't believe it, my rehab seemed to be going all right but there was something not quite right," he said.

"I went to see a knee specialist - and he's pretty sure it's my cruciate ligament. I go for an operation next Tuesday (11 May). The best-case scenario is three to four months the worst is six months."

WORKINGTON have snapped up Whitehaven prop Ryan MacDonald for the rest of the season.

Town director Malcolm Allison hailed the signing as a major boost for the club. "He is a true pro which will rub off onto a young squad here at Derwent Park," he said.

CHALLENGE CUP STATS

THE odds of history are stacked against Hunslet today as they try to turn over Barrow. The pair have met five times previously in the Cup with the Yorkshiremen prevailing just once - some 102 years ago!

Highs or lows, job remains the same for Steve

To give a Super League side a start on their own ground and still beat them is some achievement. But then Barrow Raiders and their coach Steve McCormack are full of surprises. BEN COLLINS caught up with him

Steve McCormack is fast becoming the man for all seasons in the Co-operative Championship. A tilt at the Grand Final, a good Cup run, a relegation battle - whatever the coaching assignment, it seems McCormack is your man.

The former Whitehaven and Widnes coach has now been tasked with leading Barrow's bid to reach Super League and the Challenge Cup quarter-finals.

McCormack masterminded a 34-28 win at Super League Castleford last month and they host Hunslet on Sunday for a place in the last eight.

"I think the Castleford win was as big for the Championship as it was for Barrow," said McCormack.

"There's not many shocks now in the Cup, especially Championship clubs against Super League, so it puts some magic back into the Cup.

"To go to a Super League ground and put in that kind of performance, it was great to be a part of. I was just pleased for the players and the fans more than anything. The fans were fantastic, as they have been all year.

"With about 20 minutes to go they really got behind the team, and to be fair, even the Castleford fans stayed behind and clapped the team off. It was good to see they appreciated the effort the team had put in.

"But I try to keep my feet on the ground, I'm getting a bit too old to be jumping around!"

Barrow may be riding high in the Championship but so too are Hunslet in Championship 1, and McCormack is wary of the role reversal from the previous round.

"We're not taking anything for granted," he said. "Hunslet have had a fantastic season so far and upset Halifax to get through to the Northern Rail Cup quarter-finals.

"We caused a shock at Castleford and they'll be looking to repeat that, so we're well aware of how they'll approach the game.

"It'd be great to reach the quarter-finals but we know Hunslet will come here with no fear."

And with Halifax playing Batley in another of the fifth-

Steve Mack - feet on the ground round ties, it means there will be at least two teams from outside Super League in the quarter-final draw.

"I think the Championship and Championship 1 are fantastic products," said McCormack.

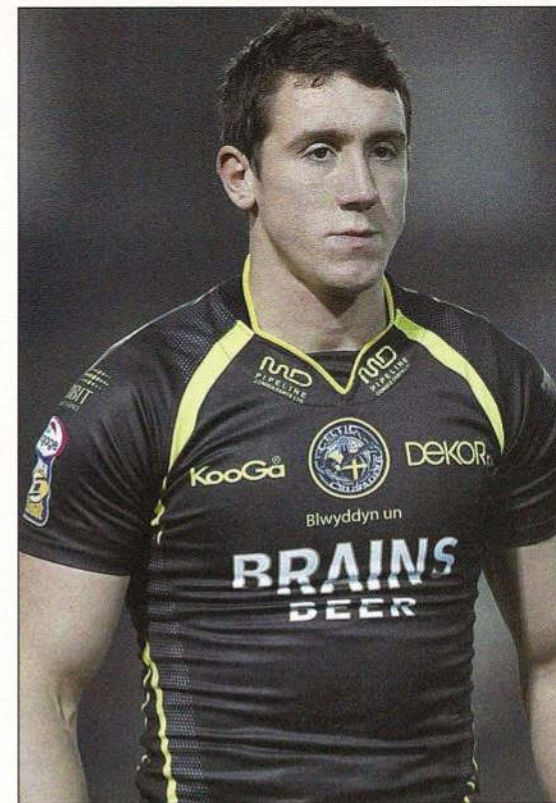

"I think the standard of both competitions have risen dramatically over the last few years.

"There's some outstanding British coaches, senior professionals and some very good younger players as well, and with two teams guaranteed to get through then I think people might start to take notice."

McCormack famously lost four straight Grand Finals with Whitehaven (2004, 2005) and Widnes (2006, 2007), but led Widnes to Northern Rail Cup glory in 2007.

After leaving the Vikings early last year, he took on the job of trying to steer Gateshead to safety and managed to lead Thunder to a 'great escape'.

Gateshead dropped down to Championship 1 anyway as they entered administration but, against all odds, McCormack had ensured they earned the points they needed to avoid automatic relegation.

Reluctantly, McCormack had to leave Gateshead and was offered the chance to take charge of Barrow after they topped the Championship table and won the Grand Final last year.

There are high expectations at Craven Park again this year but McCormack is relishing the opportunity.

"I don't think my role here is any different to that at Gateshead," he said.

"You're a professional coach and the pressure is always there to win - whether you're at the top or the bottom.

"There was a different sort of pressure at Gateshead because we had to stay up. And keeping Gateshead up ranks as one of my best achievements, I'll always maintain that.

"But now I'm looking to build on what Dave Clark and the players have done over the last few years - two years ago they were in the third tier.

"I think what the club has achieved over the last two years is unbelievable so it's a hard act to follow but it's something I'm really enjoying trying to do.

"The chairman (Des Johnston) is really backing the club and I'm working with a very motivated bunch of board members, players and supporters."

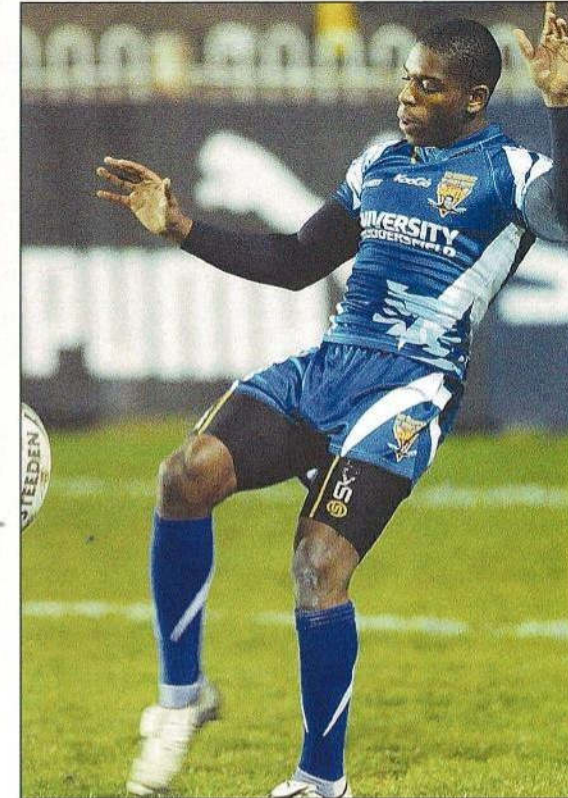

McCormack knew sweeping changes weren't necessary when he took charge at Craven Park.

But he has brought in the likes of Anthony Blackwood, Andrew Henderson and Jermaine McGilvary and is gradually moulding the Barrow squad into an even more competitive outfit as they aim to repeat last season's success.

"It was a bit of a slow start but we qualified for the Northern Rail Cup quarter-final and we're near the top of the table, but it's a long season," he said.

"It's that famous word 'gelling', and we've had different pivots, with Jamie Rooney, Liam Campbell and Zeb Luisi playing at six.

Anthony Blackwood (left) and Jermaine McGilvary are young talents brought to Craven Park by Steve Mack who add real potency to the Barrow attack

"We're still trying to find the best combination there and seeing if we can improve. Sometimes it's important what you don't change as much as what you do change because obviously they must have been doing a lot of things right before I came. It was fine-tuning more than anything. I assessed the squad with Des at the start of the year. We didn't panic and try to bring a load of new players in, we've just made changes as the season's gone on.

"We'll see what needs improving, and if players become available, such as Blackwood and McGilvary did, we'll make changes, but only if we need to, we won't do it just for the sake of it.

"We're bringing younger lads through too. Nathan Mossop didn't really get a chance last year but this year he's come through and done exceptionally well.

"That's really important too, finding youth players from the Barrow area, and that's something we'll continue to develop."

And bringing local talent through is equally important this year for the Raiders as they prepare to apply for a coveted Super League licence.

"We're just looking to improve on last year but we've also got to think about fulfilling criteria for Super League," McCormack added.

"We've ticked the boxes on the field, now we need to keep working on the stadium, youth development and other off-field structures to help us put a strong Super League bid in."

Barrow v Hunslet

Delighted with work ethic as we face tough cup test

Welcome to Barrow for our Carnegie Challenge Cup game against Hunslet.

Today's opponents will provide a massive test for us and we welcome the directors, coaching staff and supporters of Hunslet.

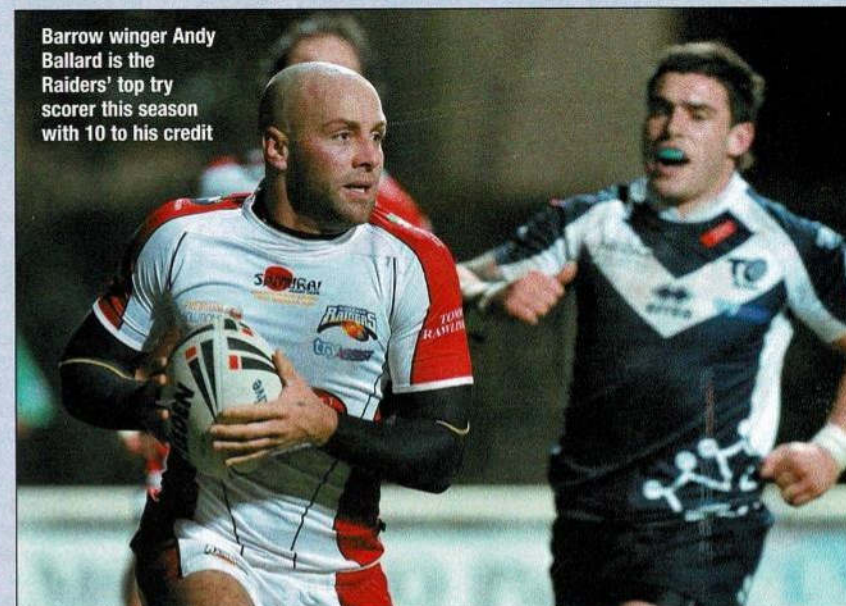

Challenge Cup ties are always exciting and intense occasions and today will be no different.

Our form coming into today's game has been very consistent. Our last home game against Dewsbury was a very difficult game and just shows how competitive the Co-operative Championship is.

Dewsbury provided us with a stern test and our players came through the game with a very important win.

Last Monday saw us visit Keighley in what was again a very important game for us.

I was really pleased with our offensive structure during the game and with a lit-

Barrow winger Andy Ballard is the Raiders' top try scorer this season with 10 to his credit tle more composure we would have scored a few more tries. The build-up play and organisation from our pivots was excellent.

However, building pressure and finishing off chances created must be improved.

I have been delighted with the work ethic and attitude of the players over the last couple of months and we are all aware that improvements have to be made in all areas.

Enjoy the game,

Steve McCormack
Head Coach

How we blew six certain tries

Good afternoon everyone and welcome to the Furness Heating Components Stadium for this Carnegie Challenge Cup tie.

The game promises to be an absolute belter and we will show Hunslet the same respect we showed when performing at Castleford.

Last week saw us win away at Keighley in a somewhat languid fashion and absolutely blew six certain tries by virtue of a lacklustre attitude. Most were by overrunning the player making the break and forcing the forward pass and others were due to throwing ignorant passes to would-be recipients.

The game was marred for the club with the potentially bad injury to Matt James. We wish him a speedy recovery.

It was interesting to note the state of the pitch last week. If we were in January and the pitch was in that state the game would not be allowed to proceed due to hardness of the playing surface. Yet here we are in May, a pitch that is equally as hard, yet the game is considered fit to play.

I know the Keighley field took a good battering during one of their TV appearances versus Batley and has remained devoid of grass since, but when players are constantly becoming injured maybe it is time to look at the overall state of the pitch prior to deciding whether to play. This observation covers our pitch also.

Last weekend I was completely Rugby Leagued out. I watched every game transmitted from the Magic Weekend, two NRL games on the Saturday and our game on the Monday. But I have to say the Super League encounters did not have me glued to the screen and the crowd levels were for me disappointing.

We suggested a few years ago to line up the Northern Rail Cup Final for inclusion into this weekend of Rugby League so the whole of the Rugby League Family is embraced and the weekend is made blank for the Championships, allowing supporters time to plan to attend.

As yet no reply has been received from the corridors of power to the suggestion but it is obvious that something needs to be done because the event must be a loss leader in the calendar.

Well, it's time for everyone to enjoy the game and please join us in the bar afterwards for a couple of sociable ones.

Halifax RLFC v Batley

Maloney loss is a chance for rest

Dominic Maloney will be out for at least six weeks

Good afternoon everyone.
I'd like to welcome the players, staff and supporters of Batley Bulldogs to the Shay for today's fifth round Carnegie Challenge Cup tie.
It is a competition that means a lot to me after appearing at Wembley as a player and it means a lot to all the players at this club too.
After going so close to knocking over a Super League club at Castleford last year it would be great to get another chance to take on top flight opposition in this year's quarter finals.
Having said that, Batley and their coach Karl Harrison will be looking at this game in exactly the same way.

I said in the Press after the draw was made that it was a great opportunity for both clubs and that remains the case.
It really does have all the makings of a great game of knock-out rugby league.
On the field, our form has certainly improved over the last few weeks and we took another step forward when we won at Whitehaven last time out.
Unfortunately, that win came at a cost, as we have lost Dominic Maloney for at least six weeks with a broken hand.
It's disappointing for Dom, but it will create opportunities for other players. It's up to those players to take their chance now.

Enjoy the game,
Matt Calland
Head Coach

The Shay again...cup deja vu for Batley

I've never been a betting man.
But I guess the odds against Batley Bulldogs playing successive cup ties at The Shay would have been very long indeed.
The 'home' side last round, Siddal, had done wonderfully well to reach the 4th round, but I'm sure Batley arrived with the 5th round draw in the back of their minds.
And now, with a 5th round tie against opposition from the same league, both sets of players can be forgiven for dreaming!

Certainly the supporters begin to dream.
One of these sides will be in the last eight, and Wembley's Arch comes tantalisingly close.
It is no secret that a good cup run can galvanise a team to success in the league, and I hope to see a professional approach, with the team looking to secure the win and take the next round when it comes.

However, the league meeting between the teams earlier this season was on a knife-edge and I don't expect anything different in the Carnegie Challenge Cup.
This is the first occasion Halifax RLFC has had to welcome Leeds Metropolitan University to a venue which, had things worked out differently, may have been one of their teaching centres.

We remain grateful for their sponsorship of this great competition, and hope they enjoy the day.
The same applies to our friends from Batley, with the hope that they leave disappointed on this occasion!
Enjoy the match.

Widnes v Wigan

Vikings will need to pull off giant-killing act of season

Good evening and welcome to everyone for tonight's clash with Wigan Warriors.

Before concentrating on the 80 minutes ahead of us, I'd like to reflect on last Friday's game against Featherstone.

First and foremost, you have to applaud the effort of each and every one of the Widnes players who took to the pitch.

To back-up for the third time in just eight days with so many changes to the team and to our shape and structure was always going to be a massive ask, but for them to do this and play as well as we did in the second half is very pleasing.

We were faced with a lot of difficulties in the game and trying to work out some of the referee's decisions was just one of them. There were definitely some errors made and overall, I thought that the players deserved a little bit more patience and appreciation of what they go through at times.

Don't get me wrong, there were also plenty of things that happened in the game that also frustrated me from our perspective too, such as the impromptu kicks that we put in or the way we surrendered the ball and field position to Featherstone at times, but if I'm completely honest with you, I still believe that we deserved an awful lot more from the contest and we're all bitterly disappointed that we didn't come away with the win.

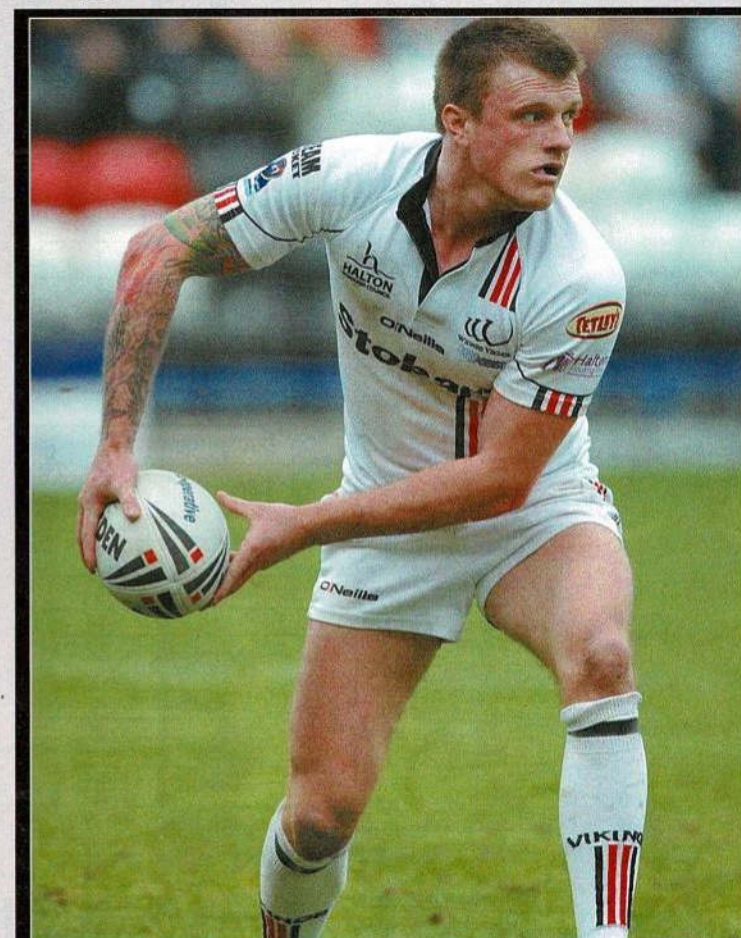

Last Tuesday, The Widnes Supporters Club staged their latest Player of the Month awards evening and when it came to choosing my Top 3 it was quite a difficult job, I have to admit.

We had eight players who played in all five games in April against Whitehaven, Toulouse, Lezignan, Batley and Featherstone and they were: Paddy Flynn, Matt Gardner, Shane Grady, Anthony Thackeray, Jim Gannon, Lee Doran, Ben Kavanagh and Chris Gerrard.

So, taking this into consideration alongside many other contributing factors, the three players I chose were: 1 - Thackeray, 2 - Flynn and 3 - Doran.

All three played virtually every minute of every game, trained every minute of every session and they typified the club spirit in a very difficult month.

However, although these three were chosen for individual honours I must acknowledge all of our players. Many if not most of them played through injury during these four games and without a doubt, April could've been a disaster with such a crippling casualty list but the players didn't buckle once and must be applauded for their outstanding effort and contribution to the cause.

Looking ahead to this evening's game, I'm delighted to welcome Wigan to the Stobart Stadium to face Widnes in the Carnegie Challenge Cup competition. It's going to be a fantastic day and it will be a game which I want the players and the fans to fully enjoy.

The Warriors are a formidable side and their track record speaks for itself in this competition.

They are currently the best side in Super League and it's possibly the draw that nobody else wanted, but we've got it and we're going to make sure we enjoy it. Wigan in the Challenge Cup is a game you dream to play in, so whether you're a top-end Super League club or a Championship club struggling with injuries, it's almost irrelevant: you go to bed dreaming about playing against Wigan in the Challenge Cup.

It's a massive game and one this club thoroughly deserves and one we're going to do everything we can to make sure we're a part of!

Enjoy the game...

Featherstone v Toulouse

Heart-broken club is set to applaud young Gareth

It's been a very tough period for us all at the club over the past couple of weeks; as everyone knows two of our young players were involved in an accident that broke the hearts of everyone at the club.

We lost a young person with so much heart and character – he made you smile every time you saw him.

Gareth was a tough young player with a leadership quality I have rarely seen at such a young age.

Gareth's mum Tracy has asked for us all to remember him with a minute's applause this evening; I think this is the best way to celebrate such a bright young individual. We are all praying for Charlie Tosh at this difficult time in his life.

We are receiving updates all the time and hope that he recovers as quickly as possible and can resume his playing career with the Rovers in the future. He is another character who brought a smile to your face when he walked through the door. Our thoughts and prayers are with the families of both players.

I thought both players and supporters of our club were magnificent last week in our tough win at Widnes.

We knew that the game would be a difficult one with the week we had endured.

I thought we were a way off our best with the ball but the effort and determination to defend our line and come away with the points was never in question.

I have said a number of times that a team has to be able to win games and play in different ways. Last week was one of those different ways. We had been pegged back after Matty Dale was sin-binned and they had scored two tries to level the scores.

Some teams would have caved in under the pressure but we were solid enough to build a position to drop a goal and win the game which showed a great deal of composure, and no little skill from Liam Finn.

Speaking of Liam Finn I thought they way Widnes went about taking him out of the game went past the acceptable boundaries in our game. He was consistently taken out after the ball had gone and after he had kicked the ball.

I hope our key players can receive fair protection from the officials or as Nathan Brown commented this week we are asking for trouble in regard to players taking things into their own hands (something we don't need to see happen).

Toulouse tonight will be a big challenge for us.

They have been steadily improving as they did last season and had a huge win a couple of weeks ago away to Widnes.

At half-back Wynn is a key player for them and controls their game as well as any half in our competition.

They have a combative pack led by Brendon Worth and a quality hooker in Mitchell so we are well aware that only our best will do.

Enjoy the game,

Sheffield v Batley

Prop Jack Howieson could be out for the season

Beginning to feel like home

Bramall Lane is starting to feel like home and the atmosphere at the three games so far has been fantastic.

The performances have also improved with all those points scored against Wigan and then the last 35 minutes against Whitehaven when the team scored 50 points. We have nothing but praise for everyone involved at Bramall Lane who have all made us so welcome. The Platinum Suite after the Whitehaven game was packed and hopefully fans will congregate in there again to mix with the players, something that apparently never happens after football games. It is now up to us all to build up our support base up to the levels required to do justice to the stadium.

Batley Bulldogs have made a similar start to the season to ourselves. In fact each team topped their Northern Rail group and as a "reward" were drawn against each other in next month's quarter final!

As well as similar playing records this season, both clubs have similar philosophies off the field and, along with the Eagles, Batley are one of the very few teams in the Championships not to have undergone financial restructuring in the last ten years. They are a community orientated club like ourselves have not followed the "boom and bust" strategy undertaken by far too many clubs.

Ian Swire
Chairman

Big win was tonic

WE got what we wanted - what we needed - out of the game against Whitehaven.

To win and score 64 points is great but it was more than just that.

We needed a big performance because coming into the game we lacked a bit of confidence.

But I've never doubted the ability in the squad - we just needed to play to that ability.

Some of the tries were outstanding - the kicking was good and the lads played smart - just what we have been asking them to do.

Defensively we were great. We conceded 24 points but Whitehaven caught us with a couple of kicks.

The first try was two yards in front of the kicker and the second was on the eighth tackle so take them out of it and it's only two tries conceded. The lads completed the last 15 sets and when you do that you give yourself a chance.

We only gave two penalties away and that's something I wanted to see.

Dumb penalties at dumb times have been killing us. Against Whitehaven we were squeaky clean and the lads have to take credit from that.

It wasn't the best week coming into the Whitehaven game.

We have faced a bit of adversity and came through.

It looks like Jack Howieson and Jonny Woodcock need surgery and will be out for the season.

Then Sam Barlow and Mitchell Stringer were suspended - but the players who came in to the team were very strong.

Trevor Exton was outstanding, as was Ryan Hepworth in his first game for quite a time, and three tries came from Alex Rowe.

Peter Green was back to his best and Aaron Groom did 60 minutes.

Special congratulations go to Matty Brooks whose misus gave birth to a baby girl recently - that can be a worrying time but he came in and did well. I could go through all the 17 - they were outstanding.

I told them before the game: 'Look we're a good team, believe it'. Now they know they should listen to me!

It's not been an easy few weeks.

People forget we have played the best teams in this competition in recent weeks and every game we could have won.

But we didn't and in those games we dropped away a couple of times.

A lot of teams will see the 64-24 win over Whitehaven and take notice, they will see that Sheffield are starting to hit their straps now.

We have won our second game in the league - we have to build on that.

Tonight we have Batley Bulldogs and then Toulouse Olympic.

Both games are at Bramall Lane and both are against teams just above us in the league.

That's an added incentive to climb into the play-off places. Enjoy the game

Challenging times at struggling Haven

WELCOME to the Recreation Ground and another important match.

Our side continues to struggle and has yet to find the keys to a truly successful effort.

Despite taking the lead just after half-time at Sheffield, things came apart and we watched an avalanche of scores pile up against the lads.

The only good news from that day was that Danny Barker was not as seriously injured as first feared.

Much remains to be done to get things ironed out, and the clock and season are moving on. There is time to 'right the ship', but not much excess. Everyone will have to pull together to get past these challenges or things will get rough indeed.

We are looking for the right set of players and continue to do everything possible, both on and off the pitch. Your coming out to cheer the lads on is truly appreciated.

As always we are grateful to our sponsors for their continued support. Today's match sponsor is LLWR Limited, Tony Ansel is the Associate Sponsor and the Match Ball goes to Brian's Taxis. And, as always we appreciate the Main Club Sponsorship of Nuclear Management Partners. Enjoy the day.

Dick Raaz
Chairman

No excuses for what happened in Sheffield

I've made no excuses at all for Monday's defeat at Sheffield. It was extremely disheartening, especially after leading early in the second-half, and I feel sorry for our fans who made the trip to Bramall Lane to support us.

Every game is huge for us and we've regrouped this week and today host Keighley.

We've been unable, this season, to get the team we want on the paddock. For instance, at Sheffield, we were forced into making three changes from the team we had planned to field.

But, as I say, none of that is an excuse for our performance. On the plus side, two of our sidelined props who have been out of action for some time are looking healthier.

David Ford is on the mend after illness and Richard Farrer, who suffered a leg injury at Widnes on April 5, has started light training.

Centre Stefan Marsh, who is with us on dual registration, made his engage Super League debut for Wigan last weekend in the win over Huddersfield.

He did not look out of place and it augurs well for us when he returns for us.

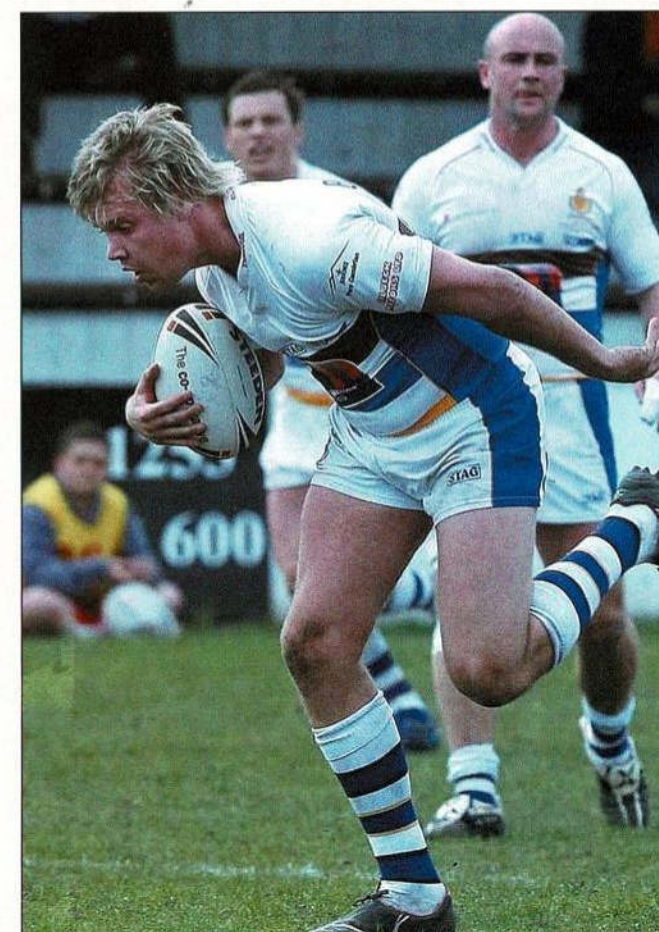

He made his first appearance for us in our win at Dewsbury and looked a very good prospect, a player who could beat a man on the outside.

There's no doubt he's got a future in the game, though obviously he still needs to gain experience at our level.

The Co-operative Championship is a tough, physical competition against guys who have been around and is a totally different game to the Under-20s.

Enjoy the match.

Gateshead v South Wales

Good to welcome a Welsh team

It is with genuine pleasure that we welcome South Wales to Gateshead.

The last time Thunder hosted a Welsh team was when the then Celtic Crusaders were promoted to the Championship.

I was the RFL's representative that day and hosted the sponsor, Co-operative, who presented Crusaders with the Championship One trophy.

Of course, Crusaders have gone on to Super League - and have Thunder's former fullback Nick Youngquest in their ranks - and left the Championships without Welsh representation. Although it was very late in the day, we were extremely supportive of South Wales' inclusion for 2010 and it is good to see them holding their own in the competition.

If Rugby League is to become a truly national sport and capture the whole country's imagination with the Rugby League World Cup 2013, then maintaining strong clubs out of the heartlands is vital.

London, South Wales, Toulouse and Gateshead all offer something different but we each take rugby league to a new audience and can open up new talent pools.

Talking of which I am extremely grateful to the players for the effort they have put in this season.

Last Monday, Thunder

had its first-ever reserve team fixture in its 11-year history. Despite the difficult off-season the Under 18s kept plugging away and a number have now stepped up to the 1st team.

And we have introduced an Under 16 training squad.

It is a medium-term project and the future looks good. Enjoy the rugby league.

Rod Findlay
Chairman

Injuries spoiled decent start against Rochdale

Hello and welcome to South Wales Scorpions on their first visit to Gateshead.

When it was first announced that South Wales were going to be entering the league, we at Gateshead Thunder were great advocates of their inclusion and the importance of a Welsh presence in the Co-operative Championships.

Their participation is one of the great strengths of our games, and more importantly for Welsh and Great British Rugby League.

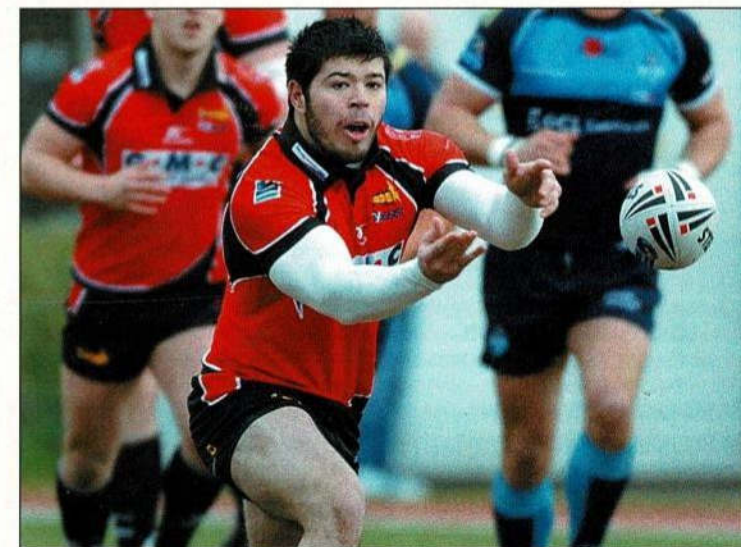

Monday was a disappointment for us all after what was such a promising start. We again picked up early injuries to David Cash and Liam Duffy that kept them sidelined and left us with only 15 players for the majority of the game.

We started very brightly, took the lead and looked in control, but we gave away too much cheap ball and penalties, which, if given to any team, will put you in pressure situations.

Our second-half effort was much improved, and the players played with a better spirit, although we were all very frustrated that we had let a big opportunity slip by us.

On a club front, we have been putting together our plans for the club's first Extended Scholarship which will start at the end of the year.

This is the first time we as a club

Chris Hood
Director of Rugby

Gateshead were robbed of the services of Liam Duffy at Spotland have had a regular detailed training programme, twinned with all the appropriate support mechanisms, for our promising youth performers.

The programme will be targeted at players who have just come out of the fantastic RFL Regional Talent Programme and is catering for the North East's best 24 players between the ages of 16-18.

Training will take place up to August 2011, and will culminate in the players competing against four other Championship scholarship sides at the end of the season.

TONY Benson has some new fans who are backing the New Zealander to spearhead a promotion push this summer. They are the management team at G and G Carpet Warehouse and Bed Centre of Lees, who have been so impressed with what the Kiwi has achieved so far that they are to sponsor him in a partnership with the club which also includes advertising and promotional events at the Roughyeds' new home at Whitebank Stadium.

"It isn't every day a club gets its coach sponsored, but G and G are putting their faith in Tony and the Roughyeds and we are thrilled to welcome on board another local company," said the club's commercial manager Rachael Marsters, a fellow Kiwi.

Said Benson: "I'm proud to have the backing of G and G and proud to know that a local family-owned firm with its roots in the community is prepared to get behind the club in this way."

Hard work is all paying off

Hello and a very big welcome to what we hope will be Whitebank Stadium's first rugby league match for the Roughyeds.

There has been an enormous amount of work gone in over the last few weeks from all manner of people to get the ground something like for this game.

What you see today is far from the finished article and this project will be ongoing for a number of years to come but today is the first day in a new dawn for the club and one that will totally transform the way in which the club operates.

9th May will go down in the history of the club as nobody - not even me - dared to think that last November when we were told we had to find a new venue, yet again, that we would be looking at having our own ground.

To have achieved this can never be understated and it is nothing more than everybody involved with the club deserves.

To us it is like a lottery win and we have to make sure we use it to its best advantage now.

I would personally like to thank everybody who has helped the club so far in any way at all including those companies who have bought into our dream!

There is not enough space here to do it justice but you can rest assured we will go from strength to strength.

The team made it seven wins out of seven last week at Doncaster and we would like nothing more than to keep that run going today.

We are hoping for a big turn out and let's hope we get that together with fantastic support for the team.

Enjoy the game.

Chris

Oldham v York

Games aren't won on paper

Tony Benson
Head Coach

A BIG Roughyeds welcome today to the officials, players and supporters of York City Knights.

A glance at the league table would indicate that, on paper at least, Hunslet Hawks, Blackpool Panthers and ourselves are drawing away from the rest, but rugby league matches are not played on paper and are not won or lost according to statistics.

The fact is that this year's division is a hugely competitive one which is going to see lots of twists and turns as the summer unfolds.

We know that the Knights will today be absolutely determined and fully switched-on to give it their best shot in their efforts to inflict on us our first league defeat of the season.

Anything less than our best and anything less than 100 per cent commitment will not be good enough and we will need to be in the sort of form that carried us through at Doncaster last week if we are to extend our winning run today against a club that always demands the highest respect.

As far as the Doncaster game went I was pleased that we kept on fighting when we went 14-12 down at half-time. I was confident that if we maintained what we had been doing, but improved on our ball control, we would take the game away in the last 20 and that's pretty much what happened.

Early in the first half we had a big territorial advantage but the game turned when we conceded two penalties in a row. We went to Doncaster expecting a tough arm-wrestle and we knew we would have to tough-it out. They are a good side and they are going to hurt a lot of teams from here on in.

There were things from that performance for us to work on but we generally had a good plan and stuck to it.

The injuries caused some disruption to plans but everyone played well. In the past we might have had a panic attack when we went behind and when we found it tough to get over their line. I was pleased that we didn't panic but instead kept our composure; kept trying things; kept our patience; and saw it all pay off in the end.

Today's game against the Knights is going to be just as tough... but aren't they all in a division where, on the day, any team can beat any other if they aren't quite up to speed in terms of preparation or attitude? Enjoy the game.

Skolars v Workington

Another win is long overdue

A warm welcome to the fans, players and officials from Workington.

We know very well how long a trip it is down to the capital (especially as our transport broke down on the way back from Cumbria last year, which made for a very long trip indeed!)

That weekend was also memorable as it was the last game that we won. It's now 11 months since that victory, another one is long overdue, but I'm sure that Workington will be determined not to bookend our losing run.

Although we worked hard in our last game, ultimately we struggled against Hunslet. Not having any specialist prop forwards in the 17 did little to help that.

Without that power and ability to go forward, our opportunities for attack become limited, quite apart from the additional pressure put on defence.

We are working with James to address this weakness and put it right both for this season and for 2011. However, there are no short-term solutions.

From a financing point of view, the salary cap limits the amount we can pay players both in absolute terms and in terms of percentage of income.

No club can just throw money at a problem.

That's a good thing for the future of the clubs and for the game at this and any professional level, but it is always a constraint.

The recent scandal in Australia with Melbourne Storm should be a warning to anyone that is tempted to transgress the rules.

Terry Browne
Chairman

No-one to prop us up against Hunslet

As Terry says, our game against Hunslet was a tough one.

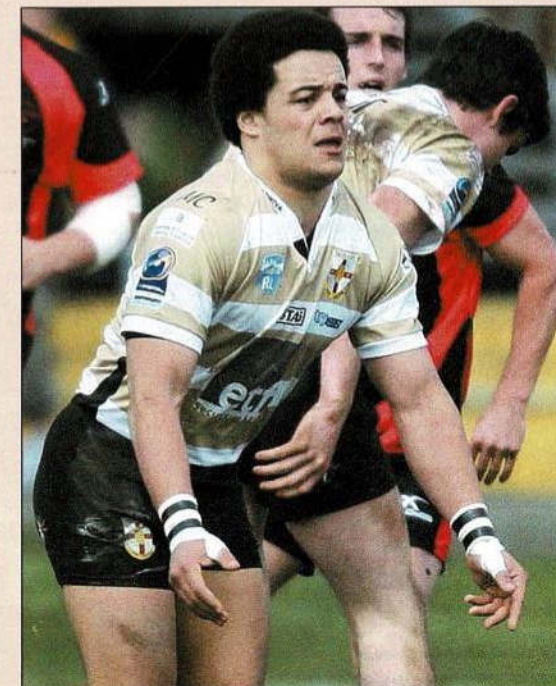

The guys acquitted themselves well for large periods of the game against a side that, at this stage of the season, looks set for promotion. However, with no recognised prop forwards, the pressure was always going to tell. Those players operating out of position will have learnt a lot from the experience and they played with a lot of heart, workrate and application.

Every club has injury issues, so I'm not to going to focus on that. However, losing two players of the quality of Curtis Cunningham and Liam Roach has been a big setback. Curtis especially showed what he was capable of in the games that he played.

Sadly if a player isn't settled it's difficult to get the best out of them. If someone's heart isn't in the game, their performance will reflect that. I'm sure many of our supporters who have come to the capital from elsewhere will know that sometimes it can be hard to adjust to life in 'the Smoke'. I'm sure our visitors today will have similar stories of players that haven't settled after a move from the M62 to the Lakes.

It's vital that we have the right players in the right positions. Our links with the student game are helping us identify a couple of players that will join us soon along with a name that may be more familiar to our supporters. That mixture of youth and experience is vital to help us strengthen the squad for the second half of the season.

James Massara
Head Coach

James Massara says the absence of quality players like Curtis Cunningham, above, is proving a major setback for the Skolars

RFL looks to recruit two major signings

The RFL is looking to significantly strengthen its senior management team with the appointment of two key posts, a Director of Marketing and Communications and a Chief Operating Officer.

The RFL is targeting individuals of the highest calibre who can help deliver the strategic objectives of Engage Super League and the 2013 Rugby League World Cup.

The Director of Marketing and Communications will be based in Leeds and Manchester and will take ultimate responsibility for building the sport's profile and maximising commercial performance, both for the governing body and its member clubs.

Supported by the RFL's Commercial Director, the Director of Marketing and Communications will develop a successful external marketing and communications strategy which will further raise awareness of Rugby League.

Based in Leeds, the Chief Operating Officer will have vital input in strategic planning, business development and the overall management of the sport.

The role will also take responsibility for providing increased support to the RFL's member clubs and developing and executing strategic initiatives that will deliver efficient and effective operational performance across the whole game.

RFL chief exec Nigel Wood

Nigel Wood, the RFL's Chief Executive, said: "Rugby League has made significant strides in the last few years and the time is now right to take the sport to the next level.

"These two appointments are crucial to achieving our aims of delivering improved services and revenues to, and on behalf of every member club, and running the most successful Rugby League World Cup."

Details of the two new roles can be found by visiting the 'Careers at the RFL' section of the RFL site www.therfl.co.uk

DID YOU KNOW INTER-DIVISION CUP CLASHES

THERE have been 161 RL Challenge Cup meetings between Super League and lower division clubs. Super League clubs have won 152 and of the nine lower division wins only three were achieved away. The only victory by a team from the third level was Hunslet Hawks' 18-14 4th round home defeat of promoted Huddersfield Giants in 2003.

Barrow Raiders' 34-28 win at Castleford Tigers in this year's 4th round was the latest victory by a lower division club. Before then, the last two lower division triumphs were in 2006, Widnes Vikings beating Castleford 14-4 in the fourth round and Hull KR defeating Warrington Wolves 40-36 in round six. Both were home victories.

Three of the other wins came in the first year of Super League (1996) with Dewsbury beating London Broncos 12-10 at home and Widnes winning 17-10 at Workington Town in the 4th round, while Salford Reds had a 26-16 5th round home win over Wigan.

Later, Keighley Cougars had a 21-8 5th round win at Halifax Blue Sox in 1997, Leigh Centurions a 16-12 4th round home defeat of Salford City Reds in 2001 and Hunslet's defeat of Huddersfield in 2003.

Leeds Rhinos registered the biggest Super League win over lower division opposition when they won 106-10 at Swinton Lions in the 2001 4th round.

Consultation on amateur switch to summer

THE AMATEUR code could follow the professionals to summer rugby league after a formal period of consultation on a possible change to the community game playing season was announced.

There has already been a groundswell of support from a number of Community game leagues and competitions, but now the RFL wants to focus on players playing at amateur level and the process will take place over a six-week period.

It will end with a recommendation that will go forward to the clubs and leagues with the decision ultimately resting with these groups.

The different options which are being discussed are to switch the season for junior and open age teams to March-November; to keep the season structure as it is at present; and to introduce a split season which would include a break for the winter months.

David Gent, the RFL's Director of Participation and Strategic Partnerships, said: "It is essential that we get the views of the players about when they would like to play.

"We are therefore planning to use an external organisation to conduct a survey amongst a cross section of community game players."

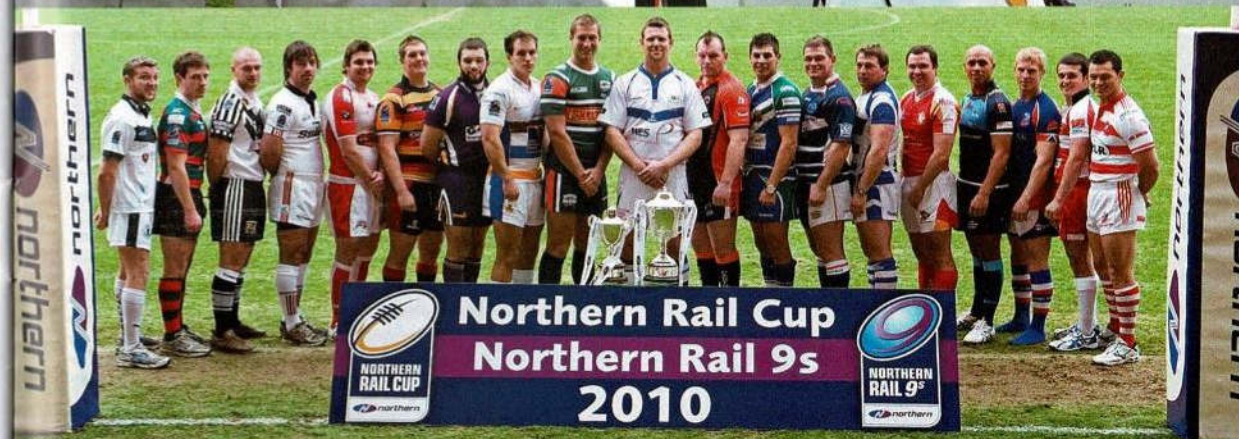

Mr Gent added: "There has been through the process so far a belief by some that this is a 'done deal' in moving to a summer based game. This consultation is a genuine, sincere and open consultation process to give players, coaches, administrators and volunteers an opportunity to comment on what they believe to be the best time of the year to play rugby league."

The RFL is keen to hear views from all parts of the sport and if you wish to know more or wish to make a comment please e-mail Andy Harland, the RFL's National Development Manager, via andy.harland@rfl.co.uk

Finn's a deadly find for Featherstone

LIAM FINN is looking like an inspired signing by Featherstone Rovers. The former Dewsbury half-back put over a last-gasp drop goal that gave Rovers a 9-8 win at Widnes Vikings.

The kick two minutes from time makes it eight wins out of eight Championship games and keeps Rovers at the top of the table.

A bumper crowd of 3,448 were provided with a thrilling contest at the Stobart Stadium. Rovers took the lead with two tries in the first half but it was a nail-biting time for coach Daryl Powell in the second 40 as the Vikings came back to level the scores.

Powell was pleased to take the three points although he didn't feel his team had played well adding "the spirit and togetherness in defence was outstanding".

Dewsbury Rams are still searching for their first Championship win after a closely contested clash with Leigh Centurions in the live Sky Sports game.

Leigh didn't have it all their own way as the Rams led at one point in the first half but the home team were outscored by five tries to two. Mick Nannyn continues in great goal kicking form with five from five.

The final score of 30-14 to Leigh denied the Rams a losing bonus point. Ian Millward's team have stretched their winning run in all competitions to ten games and stay in second place in the table just one point behind Rovers.

Rams coach Warren Jowitt praised his team's effort. He said: "We're getting better... I'm certain our first win is coming."

Toulouse Olympique dusted themselves off after the Icelandic ash cloud lifted with a 20-12 win over Batley Bulldogs. It was the first game Gilles Dumas' team had played since the Challenge Cup game at St Helens.

Batley trailed 14-4 at half-time but closed the gap to two points before a late try from Mathieu Griffi converted by Nathan Wynn edged the win for Toulouse.

COMING UP...

IT'S a mix of Carnegie Challenge Cup fifth round and Championship games ahead this weekend.

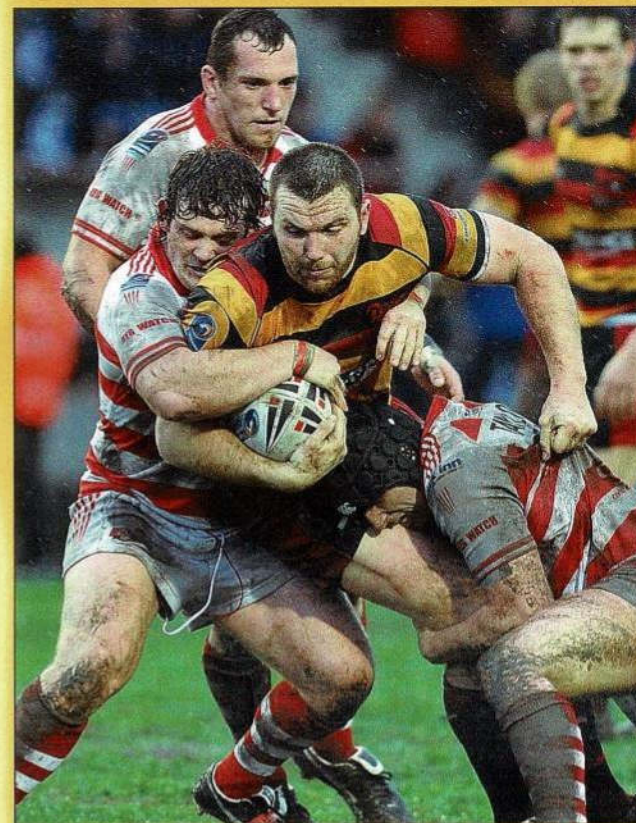

Seven Championship clubs are involved in Cup games and four drawn together Barrow Raiders v Hunslet Hawks and Halifax v Batley - guaranteeing at least two of the competition's clubs will make the quarter finals.

Widnes Vikings face Super League leaders Wigan Warriors at the Stobart Stadium. Leigh Centurions' good winning run faces a stern test when they go to Bradford Bulls and Blackpool Panthers travel to Leeds Rhinos.

In the Championship, leaders Featherstone Rovers are at home to Toulouse Olympique in the live Sky Sports game. Two Saturday ties in Championship 1 see South Wales Scorpions make the long trip to Gateshead Thunder and there's a derby with Rochdale Hornets at Swinton Lions.

The weekend ends with Whitehaven seeking to bounce back at home to Keighley Cougars and in Championship 1 London Skolars at home to Workington Town and Oldham entertaining York City Knights.

Batley Bulldogs have busy week with a trip to Sheffield Eagles on Wednesday for the game that was postponed by the weekend Cup clash at Halifax.

Rams prop Keegan Hirst is wrapped up by the Leigh defence a 40-10 win at Keighley Cougars. Jamie Rooney claimed two tries and kicked six goals.

Cougars remain anchored in bottom place.

Sheffield Eagles claimed their second win of the season with a 64-24 romp over Whitehaven - a performance coach Mark Aston described as the "confidence booster" they needed.

In Championship 1 it was a busy Bank Holiday Monday with five games - but no change for the three leaders locked on 21 points at the top of the table.

David March claimed a try and five goals as Hunslet Hawks made sure of staying in top spot with a 30-16 win at Workington Town.

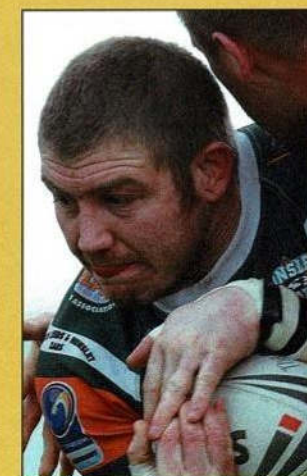

It was no change below them with Blackpool Panthers staging a second half comeback to keep their 100 per cent record with a 28-24 win at South Wales Scorpions. Eight players scored tries as third placed Oldham won 46-26 at Doncaster.

Rochdale Hornets moved up to fourth with a 50-12 win over Gateshead Thunder with Wayne English getting a hat-trick of tries.

Swinton Lions made the trip to York City Knights and came away with a narrow 36-30 win after trailing at half-time.

York had to settle for a losing bonus point that puts them behind Hornets on points difference.
