X --- O X O NOBBY'S NOTES O X --- O X

HELLO everyone and welcome to today's game against York City Knights at the Whitebank Stadium.

Our opponents today are a very good team and are one of the favourites to get promotion, so we will have to be at our best for the full 80 minutes if we are to get anything from the game.

York have had a good start to their season and they will come here with confidence as joint leaders of Kingstone Press Championship One with Hunslet Hawks.

Both are on 19 points from seven games, while we are in third place with 14 points from six games, so from our point of view nothing short of 100 per cent will be good enough today if we are to get the win we want so badly.

In our last game
a g a i n s t

Oxford we probably played the best offensive rugby we have played all season which was nice to see.

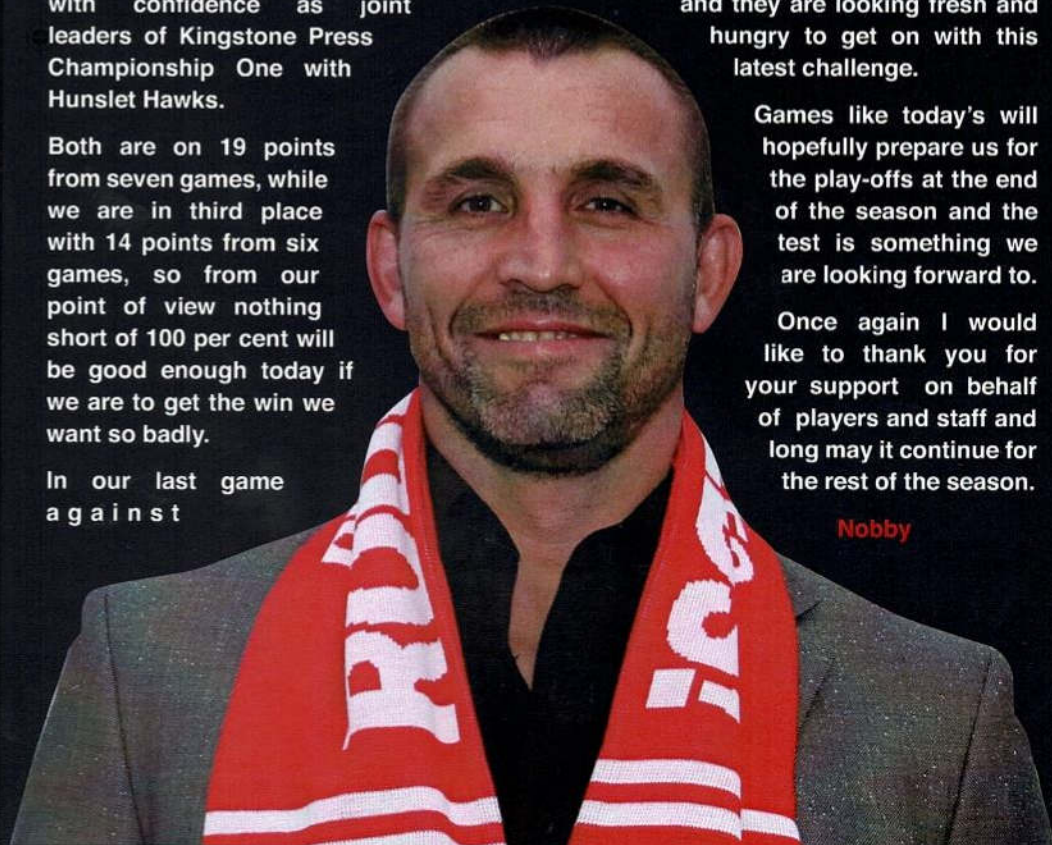

A lot of what we produced were things we had been working on in training since the Hunslet defeat and I'm sure we will see something similar today.

Since the Oxford game the lads have trained extremely hard to fill the gap caused by having no game last week and they are looking fresh and hungry to get on with this latest challenge.

Games like today's will hopefully prepare us for the play-offs at the end of the season and the test is something we are looking forward to.

'LANGERS' WINS TOP BILLING

HEARTIEST congratulations go to Danny Langtree, who has been named Kingstone Press Championship One player of the month.

Our young forward, aged 23, is in his second full season of first-team rugby at Whitebank where he forms a hard-working and stunningly consistent second-row with Josh Crowley.

When told of Langtree's recognition, Roughyeds' coach Scott Naylor said he wasn't surprised because it was no more than 'Langers' deserved.

He added: "I'm pleased for him. He's a quality player and a quality person. He's a dream to coach. He was unlucky not to get our club player-of-the-year award in 2013, and this year he's playing even better.

"Over the course of the season so far Danny and Josh have probably been our two best and most consistent players."

Of all the players at Championship One clubs, only Hunslet's David March has played in more consecutive appearances in all competitions than Crowley. March is on 33, Crowley on 32, going back to the start of last season when he arrived from Widnes Vikings.

Dale Bloomfield is right up there too on 31 ---- and talking of 'Bloomers' it is interesting to note that he and Langtree are our leading try scorers so far, each on five.

The full list (all competitions) is: Bloomfield 5, Langtree 5, Kenny Hughes 4, Mo Agoro 3, Crowley 3, Steven Nield 3, Michael Ward 3, Jason Boults 2, Adam Files 2, Danny Whitmore 2, David Cookson 1, Alex Davidson 1, Sam Gee 1, Edwin Okanga-Ajwang 1, Brett Robinson 1, George Tyson 1, Ben Wood 1.

CHRIS' COMMENTS

WELCOME back to the Whitebank Stadium for what promises to be one of the highlights of the season, both on and off the pitch.

York are going well after their relegation last season and they will be very determined to ensure they get back up to the Championship at the first attempt. Their start to the season underlines their intention to do just that.

Although they lost at home to Oxford they had previously won away at Hunslet to prove their worth as a team.

For our part, we had a convincing win in our last game against Oxford and while there are still things to work on we certainly took a big step in the right direction in terms of the kind of performance we are looking for. We looked very good on attack.

With 100 points scored in our last two home games, more of the same today would be very welcome.

We know we will be tested, however, and we need to move up another notch in our intensity to make sure we get the result we want. Recent matches against the City Knights have been like that and today's will be no different.

This afternoon also sees another step forward for the club as it will be the first time our new, upgraded showers will be in operation in both dressing rooms, home and away.

The system we inherited when we came to Whitebank was upgraded not long after we moved in, but since then - as players from both sides will vouch - we have had various problems concerning supply of water and its temperature.

As usual, it has been difficult to get a specific solution to the problems and it seemed everybody was giving us different advice. Anyway, we have got there eventually.

We have had help from the RFL Facilities Trust, for which we are extremely grateful, but the club has still invested several thousand pounds to upgrade the whole system. If the showers don't work properly today I intend to lock myself away for eternity!

Since our last first-team game, Neil Roden and the under 20s have had a good win and more power to their elbow for showing such determination and desire in keeping going until they got it.

Neil is proving to be adept in his new role as coach. He is enjoying himself although he will be the first to admit that moving from being a player, and having only yourself to think about, to becoming a coach and having to think for 20-odd other people as well, can be a bit of a job.

We have signed Richard Joy on professional forms and he is very similar in his outlook and attitude to his elder brother Phil. He has all the attributes to make the move up to first team and we wish him well.

Finally and, as ever, please keep up your fantastic support. It has been superb all season and it really does make a difference.

Enjoy the game.

JOHN CLEGG R.I.P

THE club has lost one its longest-serving and most dedicated supporters with the passing, aged 92, of John Clegg of Watersheddings, who died in the Royal Oldham Hospital at the end of March.

A lifelong supporter, John broke a hip in a fall at home and was in hospital for about a week and a half before he died, having lived within a good goalkick's distance of the old Watersheddings ground for more than 60 years.

It is with deep sadness that we record his passing and convey to all members of the family the sincere condolences of everyone at the club.

John served with the RAF in India in the 1940s and it was on his return to the UK, and his native Oldham, in 1949 that he bought a house in Adlington Street, close to the top of Sharples Hall Street and almost in the shadow of his beloved Watersheddings.

His son Alan recalled: "He began to get passionate about Oldham Rugby when he was a 15-year-old schoolboy and he never lost his love of the club until the day he died.

"He was a keen fan for more than 75 years. My earliest memories are of the team that played in the early 60s and had that fantastic Challenge Cup semi-final series with Hull KR in 1964, but my Dad never stopped talking of the great team of the 50s.

"As the years passed by my heroes were players like Martin Murphy, Mike Elliott and Phil Larder, but Dad used to regale me with stories of Alan Davies, Derek Turner, Bernard Ganley and all the others from that era.

"Like all Oldham fans he dreamed of watching the team at Wembley, but it was never to happen although we went close in a few semi-finals.

"When my own son, also called John, was old enough to go, the three of us would always stand on the Herbert Street side towards the Hutchins end. The same people would always congregate in the same place and you would get to know them very well."

By the time Watersheddings was sold off for housing development, John was well into his 70s. He didn't drive and his son and family were by then living in Chorley.

Grandson John takes up the story. "Dad and I got over to Oldham as much as we could to take him to the rugby, and he never lost his interest.

"We took him to Whitebank a few times and he enjoyed every minute of it."

Alan and John jnr. planned to be here at the York game today in order to pay their last respects at a match they chose specifically because the City Knights, like Oldham, are a traditional rugby league club with a great history and heritage.

LEWIS NAMED PLAYER OF THE WEEK

LEWIS Palfrey, who kicked eight goals from nine attempts in an influential display in our 48-28 win against Oxford, last time out, was later named Kingstone Press Championship One player of the week after leading Roughyeds - according to the citation - with "skill and maturity".

Coach Scott Naylor said: "Lewis had a complete game. Defensively he was good, he organised well, kicked well, and when we got good ball he was very clinical with his passing. It was the best game he's had this season, without doubt.

"We've been working hard in training and it seems to have helped him, because he looked very relaxed and more like his old self.

"We've not put a complete game together so far this year, but we went close against Oxford. It was a big game and it had that feel about it, but our performance was a big step in the right direction."

We had three players in that week's divisional top team ---- Palfrey at stand-off, Michael Ward at prop and Danny Langtree in the second row.

EXPENSIVE FACELIFT FOR WHITEBANK SHOWERS

WORK costing "several thousand pounds" to overhaul and upgrade the hot water and shower facilities in both home and away dressing rooms has been completed at the Whitebank Stadium.

It will be paid for by the club, assisted by a grant from the Rugby Football League's Facilities Trust.

The project was due to be completed and the new system fully operational in time for today's home game against second-in-the-table York City Knights.

It will be four years and nine days exactly since the City Knights spoiled Oldham's 'house warming' by winning 34-28 in the Roughyeds' first-ever game at Whitebank, watched by a crowd of 1,110.

From that first game on May 9, 2010 visiting teams have been accommodated in a cabin, complete with its own shower facilities, situated close to the main dressing room area but separate from it.

The Oldham team and the match officials have been housed in the main building, but with separate facilities.

Said club chairman Chris Hamilton: "We have had ongoing problems for some time with regard to water pressure and the facility to store sufficient water.

"Over a good period of time we have been in discussions with various companies, experts and the RFL with the intention of coming up with a solution.

"We have been given differing opinions and possible solutions, which have merely added to our concerns, but a few weeks ago we got in a mechanical engineer who gave us a definitive outline of what needed to be done.

"Preliminary work started the week before last and the remainder will be completed in time for the new system to be up and running for this Sunday's game against York.

"We are very grateful for the assistance and patience of the RFL Facilities Trust, without whose help we would not have been able to carry out these improvements.

"I've told the players that, by Sunday, the problems of the past will be exactly that."

Philip Jones, chairman of the Facilities Trust, said he was "delighted" that the Trust was able to come to the Oldham club's assistance.

He added: "The Facilities Trust is all about helping to improve facilities at the grounds of our community clubs and our Championships clubs. It's what we are there for.

"We wish Oldham well with this important project."

OH brother! Phil Joy (left) congratulates brother Richard on the night he became an Oldham RLFC professional.

MORE JOY FOR OLDHAM!

WE are delighted to confirm the signing on professional forms of Richard Joy from our under-20s squad.

Richard, who is 20, will be following a well-trodden path, taken previously by half a dozen of the club's current first-team professionals, including his elder brother Phil (22).

Phil spent most of the 2012 season in the second team before turning pro in 2013 and winning the club's player-of-the-year award in his first season of senior rugby.

Danny Langtree, Michael Ward, who has been at the club since he was 16, David Cookson, Kenny Hughes and Steven Nield also worked their way up to first-team level via the under-20s.

Richard Joy and his twin, Andrew, joined big brother Phil at Whitebank with three or four under-20s games still left at the end of last season.

It took only four more games this season for university student Richard to convince his immediate boss Neil Roden and our head coach Scott Naylor that he was first-team material.

All three Joy brothers grew up in the Waterhead club's junior section, but by the time Richard and Andrew were ready to join their home-town professional club they were playing for Saddleworth under-18s.

Said Richard: "I was genuinely taken aback when I was asked to sign. It was something I had been aiming for, but I didn't expect it to come so soon.

"I guess it's up to me now. I'm looking forward to the challenge. It will certainly give me something to aim for.

"My favourite position, like Phil, is prop. 'Rats' (Roden) has been playing me at loose-forward. I'm happy to play anywhere, so long as I get a game.

"All I can do is aim to reach my best and see where it takes me."

FANS GUARANTEED A DAY TO REMEMBER

The 2014 Kingstone Press Championships Finals Day will be staged at Headingley Carnegie Stadium, Leeds, on Sunday, October 5.

Rugby League fans are guaranteed a day to remember with three title deciding matches, the Kingstone Press Championship Grand Final, the Kingstone Press Championship One Grand Final, the winners of which will be promoted to the Championship, and the National Conference Challenge Trophy Final.

It will be the second time the Championships Finals Day has been held at the historic venue -- the last was in 2007 when Oldham lost to Featherstone in the Co-operative National League Two Grand Final --- and it is sure to be an exciting day for all Rugby League fans.

After staging last year's Finals Day at Leigh Sports Village, the Championships clubs recently expressed their preference for a neutral venue in 2014.

RFL Chief Operating Officer Ralph Rimmer said: "The Kingstone

Press Championships Finals Day always provides a spectacular and memorable end to the season and this year we believe it will be the most exciting ever.

"Headingley Carnegie Stadium has a rich history of hosting high quality sporting events and will be the perfect venue to showcase some extraordinary action to a bumper crowd in what is now set to be a pivotal year for the sport."

Gordon Johncox, managing director of Championship title sponsors Kingstone Press, said: "At Kingstone Press we are really looking forward to Championships Finals Day and will be planning some exciting activity around our new Proper Cider campaign leading up to and around the day.

"We are committed to helping recruit more players and supporters to rugby league and of course create more awareness of our cider. Our activities will be designed to appeal to clubs, players and fans to help make the day more electrifying than ever."

Tickets for the 2014 Kingstone Press Championships Finals Day are on sale now, priced from £17 for adults and £10 for concessions. Book your tickets by visiting www.rugbyleaguetickets.co.uk or call 0844 856 1113.

NEIL'S NOTES

In our last home game we took a big step forward by picking up our first win against North-East Academy with a really good professional performance.

We scored some nice tries and also defended well to record a 48-6 win which should have set us up nicely to go to Nottingham for the game against Midlands Academy a week later.

We scored nine tries in the win against the North-East, these coming from Connor Partington, Sam Singleton (2), Andy Ball, Rhys Wareing, Tom Flanagan, Richard Joy, Jake Hughes and Kyle Buckley-Mayall. Tom Dempsey landed six goals.

We played some good rugby, especially in the second half, and we felt we could kick on from this our first win and produce another good performance down in the Midlands.

Unfortunately we took a big step backwards down there, losing 32-30 with a performance that simply wasn't good enough on the day.

The lads know they let themselves down mentally by not preparing for the game as they should have done.

It was a tough defeat to take but I'm 100 per cent sure the lads will learn a lot from it and work hard to improve both individually and collectively, which is what we all try to do.

Our try scorers in Nottingham were Andy Ball (2), Sam Wilson (2), Rhys Wareing and Kyle Buckley-Mayall, while Tom Dempsey landed three goals.

We have no game this weekend, but we go to Whitehaven to take on the Cumbrian Academy next Saturday, May 24, and our next game here at Whitebank is against Sheffield Eagles on Saturday, May 31 (2.30pm Kick off).

Congratulations to Tom Dempsey on his selection for the North-West and Cumbrian Students squad and to Richard Joy on his step-up the ladder in being offered a professional contract.

Thanks for your support,
