NOBBY'S NOTES
O X --- O X

HELLO everyone, and welcome to today's game against Hunslet Hawks at the Whitebank Stadium.

Our opponents today are a top-class team in our division with great players and a quality coach, so we obviously expect this match to be an extremely difficult one from which to come away with a victory.

I think sometimes this season it's been forgotten that the two teams we are competing with for top spot were relegated from the Championship at the end of last season and both kept there squads intact for this year in the hope of getting back up as quickly as possible.

Having said that, we see ourselves as a team that can challenge these clubs when the play-offs start in September and hopefully get the promotion this club craves and, in my opinion, deserves.

Our game last week against York was a huge wake-up call to the squad.

If every player doesn't turn up with the right mental and physical attitude then we won't get the victory, that applies to every game, including today's, never mind getting to the Grand Final and possibly a chance of winning promotion to the Kingstone

Press Championship.

Last week's game gave me my darkest day as a coach, and since then it's been a long week, personally for me and also for the players.

It's hard to see fans travel and spend money to support us at away games when we perform the way we did at York.

We won't win every game, but last week's performance was unacceptable.

Sometimes things happen in rugby that you can't explain or understand, but one thing you can't do is hide or hope that everything will simply come right and be okay.

As a team, we have to put it right ourselves. We have to stand up and be counted and we have to be the best we can possibly be, and then let's see what happens.

Losing is part of rugby, unfortunately, but it's the manner in which you lose that you CAN control.

Give everything for the club and for the fans and then no one can ask for more or criticise you. That's my rant over.

I hope you enjoy today's game. Thank you for your support.

COVENTRY IN - OFFICIAL

COVENTRY Bears will enter the Kingstone Press Championship One competition in 2015.

Formed in 1998, Coventry have grown to become one of the sport's most successful community clubs and they will play home games at the 4,000-capacity Butts Park Arena.

RFL Chief Operating Officer Ralph Rimmer said: "Coventry's entry follows a great deal of hard work by a committed and passionate group of individuals who have set realistic and realisable ambitions for a club which has grown in stature over recent years.

"The arrival of Coventry Bears adds another refreshing dimension to the Championships at a time when the sport is approaching an exciting new era with the introduction of a new league structure in 2015.

"Following the success of Oxford, Hemel Stags and the University and Gloucestershire All Golds in introducing Rugby League to a new audience of players and spectators, Coventry Bears will enhance the competition and the sport.

"Their entry is the latest result of our long-term commitment to introduce new clubs into Championship One from new geographical areas and I am sure Coventry Bears will receive a warm welcome from everyone in the game."

Coventry managing director Alan Robinson said: "The club has worked hard to establish good working relationships in Coventry and across the Midlands and we have partners in place who can help us realise our ambitions.

"Making the transition from being a community club to the professional ranks has been, and remains, an exciting and fulfilling journey.

"Our geographical location allows us to 'bridge the gap' between clubs in the South and North and creates rich potential for us to succeed."

SMALL comfort, in terms of the bigger picture, but Dale Bloomfield's last-minute try in our heavy defeat at York last week took our try tally in cup and league this year to exactly 100 in 17 outings - an average of six tries per game.

The breakdown looks like this:

Dale Bloomfield 18	David Cookson 5	Lewis Palfrey 4	Sam Gee 1
Mo Agoro 15	Kenny Hughes 5	Jason Boults 2	Phil Joy 1
Josh Crowley 9	Steven Nield 5	Adam Files 2	Nathan Mason 1
Jon Ford 7	Michael Ward 5	George Tyson 2	Edwin Okanga-Ajwang 1
Danny Langtree 7	Ben Wood 5	Danny Whitmore 2	Brett Robinson 1
		Alex Davidson 1	Steve Roper 1

CHRIS' COMMENTS

WELL, after last Sunday at York we are certainly hoping for a big response from the players today.

It is hard to put into words just how disappointing that display was in a match of high importance and one in which the eyes of the wider game were upon us.

A first v second clash should have tension, drama, apprehension, toughness and probably any other stirring words you can think of.

Instead, it was just the opposite and we got what we deserved as a team. There have been comments from both myself and Scott in the Press and we have moved on. The players are a good bunch and, hopefully, they will have learned a painful lesson from that match.

For you, the fans, we hope we can go some way to putting it right today in what is another toughie. Hunslet were at the match last week so we have to make sure we forget what happened and get back to winning ways.

Before last Sunday, we were anticipating our biggest crowd of the season today, but performances like that have a knock-on effect and that is one of the pressures I have to deal with.

Let's hope it hasn't dampened too much the enthusiasm of you, the fans. Indeed, our loyal band of supporters were still loud and proud throughout the match and the vocal support you gave to the players both during the game and when it was over was not deserved. They know they are lucky to have you.

In more ways than one it will have been a hard week for the players - no doubt about that - but digging in when things aren't going right shows what you are made of and I expect nothing less than a fully committed performance this afternoon at the very least.

Scott Naylor and Lee Spencer put an awful lot of hard work into this group of players and Scott was very down last week, and understandably so. The lads owe him and you.

One thing is important to note here. We haven't gone over the top in our reaction to the game - after all, it was one of only three defeats all season.

What hurt was the manner of the defeat in the context of a big game. You know me well enough to know that I have nothing but admiration and total support for the coaches and the players but sometimes - and only very occasionally - there is perhaps a need to voice my displeasure.

I don't go home and forget about it and neither do the coaches. It means too much. The players need that same mentality.

The season is far from over. We have an opportunity today to put down a marker and I'm sure we will take it against what will be very tough opposition in a Hunslet side which has beaten us already this season.

Bring it on!

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEW BOY

Scott finally gets his man!

OUR search for another outside back came up trumps with the capture of winger Adam Clay, who made his debut at York last Sunday.

When the programme went to press, it wasn't known whether he would be making his home debut today, but he would certainly be in the mix.

Barrow's top try scorer in the Championship last year, 23-year-old Clay has joined us initially on a short-term contract to the end of this season.

He figured in 27 of Barrow's 29 games in 2013, scoring 12 tries although playing in a struggling side that only narrowly avoided relegation.

Suitably impressed, newly-promoted North Wales Crusaders signed him for a second time, but he was recently released, whereupon Scott Naylor pounced to finally get his man after 18 months of trying.

"I first came across Adam when he was a kid at Leigh Miners," said the Oldham boss.

"I signed him on pro forms for Salford, and I've rated him ever since. I think he's a fine player.

"We are light on outside backs and although he's predominantly a winger, he could operate equally well at centre or full-back.

"The days have gone when players were only ever asked to play in one position. Adam can play across the back line and he's a perfect fit for what we've been looking for.

"He's a Championship player, no doubt about that.

"We tried to sign him at the end of last season when we were hoping to win promotion, but he opted to stay in the higher division and go back to Crusaders and we fully understood his reasons for doing so.

"I never lost my interest, though, and when he became available we snapped him up."

Leigh-born Clay represented Great Britain Community Lions in Australia at under-18s level and shortly afterwards signed for Salford, where he spent two and a half years, much of it in the reserves working under 'Spanner' (Lee Spencer).

In 2011 he made two Super League appearances for Salford as a 19-year-old.

The following year he had a brief spell at Leigh (three tries in five appearances) and then Crusaders on loan (six tries in ten outings).

It was during that season, before Scott's arrival as coach, that Crusaders did the double over Oldham, with Adam scoring a try both times.

HOW THE SKIPPER PLAYED HIS PART

CLUB captain Lewis Palfrey played a leading role in Adam Clay's arrival at Whitebank, revealed Adam when speaking exclusively to the club's media department.

"Lewis and I go back a long way," said the Leigh-born former Salford, Leigh, Barrow and North Wales Crusaders winger.

"We were mates at Salford and we've remained good mates since. I'm a big friend of his. Before I signed Lewis told me all about the club and how good it was.

"I liked what he had to say and that had a big bearing on my decision, although I also know Scott and 'Spanner' very well and also members of the backroom team and some of the players."

Adam (23) damaged an ankle last March when playing for North Wales Crusaders in a Challenge Cup tie against Pilkington Recs and although it doesn't stop him training and playing he was due to have a scan on it yesterday.

Despite our defeat at York, Adam is optimistic about his new club's prospects of making an impact in the remainder of the season.

"It's all down to the play-offs and anything can happen in those," he said.

"Had Oldham got promoted last year I would have signed for them then, so I was at the final when they were beaten by Rochdale and I was disappointed like everybody else.

"I'd had a good year at Barrow and I wanted to stay in the Championship, so I signed for Crusaders, where I had been on loan from Leigh in 2012.

"As things turned out, I wish I had signed for Oldham in the first place, but I'm here now and I'm looking forward to my first home game and getting my career back on track with my new club."

Last-gasp winner set 'Nielyd' on his way

LOYALTY and perseverance have paid off for Steven Nield who, in his fourth season at Whitebank, has finally got the job he always wanted.

He has played consistently well since getting his hands on the full-back jersey in time to play a key role in the 48-28 home win against Oxford at the beginning of May. He has kept his spot ever since, and done a fine job, too.

In was in the next game that he scored the sensational, last-gasp try that gave Roughyeds a 31-30 win against York and his confidence and self-belief have grown steadily ever since.

Life at Whitebank is sweet right now for the former Saddleworth Rangers junior, whose fans include scores of children to whom he teaches sport in local schools as part of his full-time day job.

It wasn't always like that.

Last season, his first as a member of the senior squad, he couldn't get his hands on his favourite full-back's shirt, which was then worn by Italian international Richard Lepori.

Elsewhere, in a back line dominated by Mo Agoro, David Cookson, Jon Ford and Dale Bloomfield there were few opportunities for him to show his versatility at centre or wing.

He made only six senior appearances, all of them at centre and all of them in the early part of the campaign.

For the remainder of the year he was on the outside looking in, back in the under-20s and playing variously at full-back, centre and wing.

"It was tough at the time. Everybody was playing well and I couldn't get an opening. I just had to bide my time," he said.

"It was hard to get into the team, but I could see how well the other lads were playing so I had to accept it. It was just one of those things."

'Lippy's' departure at the end of last season created an opening, but Steve then found himself in competition with another local lad, Tom Whitehead, who lost his place after a bad defeat at Hunslet on Good Friday.

Steve added: "I've had to be patient, but I'm getting a good run now and I'm loving every minute.

"Everyone is starting to click. We are playing well as a team and hopefully we are coming good at the right time.

"We've got some massive games coming up, but if we play to the best of our ability we should be okay."

Roper's OUR lad now - Scott

New talks with Rochdale end fears of a recall

OLDHAM have negotiated Steve Roper's release from Rochdale Hornets and tied him up on contract to the end of the season.

"He's our lad now," said a delighted Scott Naylor, of the half-back who has become a key member of the Oldham side since arriving from Spotland on loan in early May.

He came initially for a month. The loan agreement was then extended to the end of the season, but it carried with it a recall clause which would have enabled Hornets to drag him back at any time.

At Whitebank there was a fear it might have happened at the business end of the season and with the top-five play-offs not far away.

Explained chairman Chris Hamilton: "We needed to be in charge of our own destiny, so we have been working on trying to get Steve's release for quite a while.

"It was completed on the Friday night before the Gloucester game so that been been was his first as a fully-fledged Oldham player.

"That removes our concerns as we look ahead to the big games that are coming up."

Roper, 27, has been a Roughyeds regular for the past couple of months, taking up a pivotal role with responsibilities for ensuring the attack runs smoothly on the left-hand side of the field.

Added Naylor: "It was important we secured his services. On and off the field he has done a great job since he came to us in May, knowing he had to prove himself.

"Because of the key role he was going to fill, I needed to have a good look at him and spend time working him into our systems, so he trained with us for the best part of a month before his first game.

"He grabbed his opportunity and he has brought a lot to the team in terms of experience, a higher skill level, composure and a good kicking game. He's very calm and composed in everything he does.

"There was a worry that Rochdale might have wanted him back, but that's gone now so we can look ahead with confidence."

Roper said: "I didn't want to go back to Rochdale anyway. I'm enjoying my rugby at Oldham and it's good to know everything is sorted out.

"It's good for me and for the club. It's a much more settled situation.

"We've got some tough games coming up, but at this stage of the season that's not a bad thing because they will prepare us for the play-offs.

"So long as we play to our full potential -- that's the key --- it will take a good side to beat us."

Your chance to say 'thanks' to a Roughyeds' record-breaker

NEIL Roden, who has given outstanding service to our club over the past 12 years (and is still doing so) will be staging his testimonial dinner here at Whitebank on Saturday, August 9 (7pm for 7.30pm).

It will be a mixed dinner for both men and women and tickets are on sale at £25 per head, which will include a three-course meal.

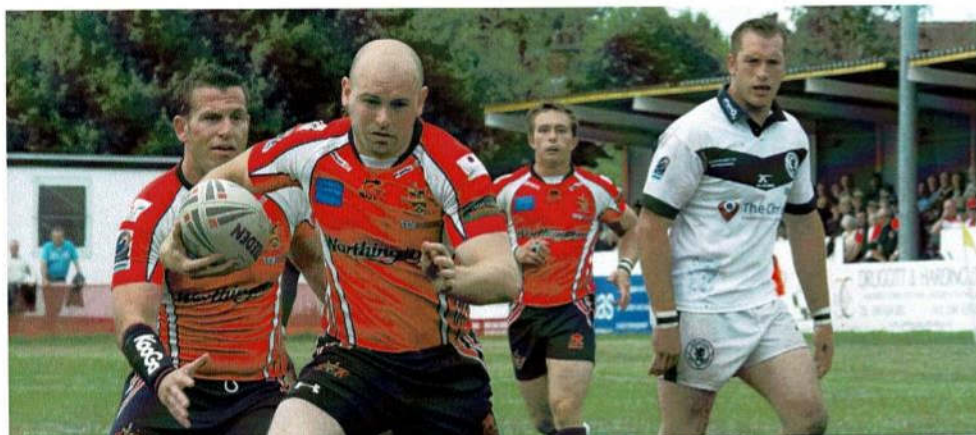

Andy Gregory, the former Wigan and Great Britain star, will be guest speaker and the MC will be Ian Smith, the local man who rose through the refereeing ranks to become a Super League official and who is now a full-time coach to match officials as well as being one of the best known of the video referees.

There will also be a raffle and an auction of rugby league memorabilia.

Tickets are available in the Whitebank social club from 1pm today until kick-off time and then after the game as well.

Alternatively, you can ring the club Monday to Friday between 9am and 5pm on (0161) 624 9630 Ext 70552 to make arrangements OR you can ring the ORSA chairman John McAndrew on 07980129541.

WHAT THEY SAID

THE 12-month testimonial, granted by the RFL, runs from January 1, 2014 and gives the 33-year-old former club captain a calendar year in which to celebrate his 12 seasons at Oldham with a series of fund-raising events.

Said ...

Club chairman CHRIS HAMILTON: "Neil has made a massive contribution over the years, not only to the Oldham club, but to rugby league in general.

"He was a model professional, never a minute's trouble and a fantastic player.

"He's doing an excellent job now as under-20s coach and he deserves a great testimonial year for all his loyal and dedicated service to this club."

Head coach SCOTT NAYLOR: "Neil deserves all the credit he gets. Much of his final season was spent as a valued member of the backroom team and he handled the transition brilliantly.

"He was as professional about it as anyone could ever be and we were delighted when he took on the job of under-20s coach."

ORSA chairman JOHN McANDREW: "On and off the field Neil has done Roughyeds proud for many years. Fans now have the chance to show their appreciation and I know they will."

Club media manager ROGER HALSTEAD: "It seems like only yesterday that two fresh-faced young kids from Wigan turned up one night for training at Castleton. Little did I know then that 14 years, 296 games and 113 tries later I would still be ringing 'Rats' for quotes and news about his under-20s.

"To me, though, he'll always be remembered for his sublime skills with ball in hand. He was a good 'un, a real good 'un, a pleasure to watch. Well done pal ... and thanks for the memories."

For the man himself, actions spoke louder than words, but we did manage to get this out of him:

"My stats don't look too bad (massive understatement - editor); I've got great memories; I've made friends for life; and I enjoyed every minute of my playing career, most of it proudly wearing Oldham colours.

"We've had some disappointments -- don't mention Grand Finals --- but we've had some great times too and I would like to thank everyone with whom I've shared those ups and downs over the years, team mates, club officials and fans, who have always supported me through thick and thin.

"I'll never forget my first try for the club. It was at Batley in my third game, but the first time I was in the starting line-up.

"The following season we had that amazing run to the play-off final. We were one game off Super League, but Widnes beat us at Spotland.

"It's difficult to pick out outstanding players because there have been so many but Phil Farrell, my pal, was a fantastic captain; Mark Sibson was a freak finisher, who scored some of the best tries I've ever seen; Paul O'Connor was brilliantly consistent; and there were naturally gifted players like Shane McMenemy and Bryan Henare."

FACT FILE

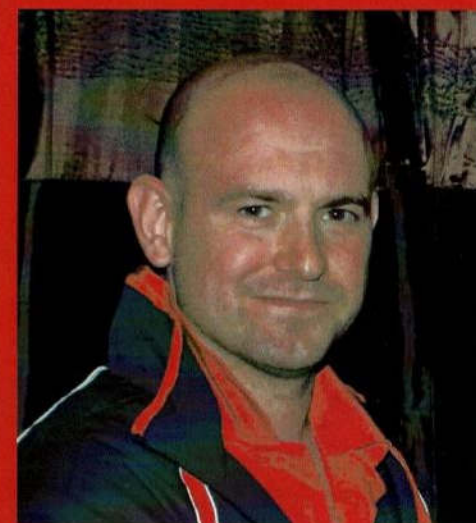

NEIL holds two club records - most appearances and most tries. His retirement from playing at the end of last season marked the end of an era for Oldham RLFC (1997) Ltd.

In his two spells at Oldham - 2000 to 2004 inclusive and 2007 to 2013 inclusive - he amassed a club record 296 cup and league appearances, scoring 113 tries, another club best that is unlikely ever to be surpassed.

Such is his affinity with the club he first joined as a 19-year-old from Wigan Warriors that he was delighted to accept an invitation to become coach of the under-20s, a position he has filled with the sort of cool, calm professionalism that was the hallmark of his distinguished playing career.

The son of Wigan's chief scout, Jack Roden, Neil - then a 19-year-old with hair! - and his pal Phil Farrell arrived at Oldham from the Warriors in the Spring of 2000 when Mike Ford was player-coach.

Neil made his debut off the bench in a 61-26 defeat at Featherstone to launch a fantastic Roughyeds career in which he played in four play-off finals; was twice named in divisional team-of-the-year sides (2007 and 2010); played in every game of the 2001 and 2007 seasons; top-scored with 20 tries in 2002; and played alongside 23 different half-backs.

He played mainly at scrum-half in his early days but in his second spell, after two seasons at Batley and Leigh, he was an automatic choice at stand-off.

Of the many half-backs he partnered, he made most appearances alongside James Coyle (49 times), David Gibbons (30) and Gareth Barber (26).

He played in four Grand Finals, partnered by David Gibbons in 2001, James Coyle in 2007, Thomas Coyle in 2009 and Greg McNally in 2010.

NEIL'S NOTES

AFTER two wins in a row against Halifax (23-22) and Gloucester (58-4) it was frustrating to be handed a break of two and a half weeks until our next game at Leigh on Wednesday (July 30, 730pm Kick off).

The lads were building some momentum, but breaks like that don't help. Suffice to say, we are looking forward immensely to taking on a very good Leigh side, who beat us convincingly here at Whitebank in the first game of the season.

The lads are keen to get back on the field and have a go at them and it will be a good opportunity to see how far we have come since that first game back in early March.

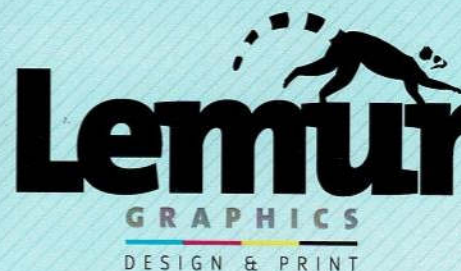

For the record we scored 11 tries against Gloucester, coming from Luke Kavanagh (2), Andrew Ball (2), Aaron Hall (2), Richard Joy, Paddy Mooney, Paddy Fitzsimmons, Rhys Wareing and Connor Casey (Leo's lad). Tom Dempsey kicked seven goals.

The team lined up like this: Dempsey, Dootson, Casey, Campbell, Kavanagh, Flanagan, Hughes, Roden, Ball, R Joy, Turner, Hall, Mooney. Subs: Wareing, Fitzsimmons, Gilks, Barratt.

The next game here at Whitebank is against Keighley Cougars on Saturday, August 9, followed that evening by my testimonial dinner in the clubhouse. It would be fantastic to see you at both.

Thanks for your support,

Neil
